China Asks American Troops Aid After Demands By Japanese

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

TIENTSIN, Nov. 11.—American troops in Tientsin were requested today by the Chinese municipal authorities to join with other foreign military units in patroling a neutral zone around the Japanese concession following another day of disorders during which the Japanese employed trench mortars as a defense against Chinese rioters.

Several Japanese shells dropped in the compound of Keen's school for girls, operated by American missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal church, but no casualties were reported.

The Chinese request for foreign military assistance to maintain order at the Japanese concession has made after the Japanese had demanded the removal of barbed wire entanglements erected around the concession as a protective measure.

Ask Assistance

Fearing the Japanese would fight unless the barbed wire was taken down, the Chinese officials agreed to comply with the Japanese demand, but said the foreign garrisons would have to assist in patroling the zone where clashes have occurred between Chinese rebels and Japanese troops since Sunday.

The Japanese consul said he would submit the plan to the Japanese military commander, and report

Signing of the Armistice which ended the World War took place on a Monday, review of the files of The News disclose. The Armistice was agreed to at 5 o'clock in the morning of November 11, and became effective at 11 o'clock, Paris time. There is a difference of six hours between Paris and Washington time, so the signing took place at 11 (our time) and became effective at 5 o'clock that evening.

It seems somewhat of a habit for it to rain on Armistice Day. Rains has fallen on three of the last four Armistice Days, and has somewhat crimped the celebration held in the district. The weather has been typically French in that it has not rained hard, but has kept up an intermittent drizzle.

This Japanese-Chinese puzzle comes in for its share of talk. It was rather interesting downtown today to hear pedestrian groups conversing over the Armistice and at the same time discussing the present rumpus in the Orient.

'Tis Armistice Day But World Peace Is Not Yet Apparent

By GEORGE P. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Today is Armistice Day, a day of Thanksgiving for peace—but neither abroad nor at home could Washington observe much cessation of hostilities.

In the Far East, Japan and China are at each other's throats in a real war, rifles cracking and big guns booming, bringing worry wrinkles to the brows of administration officials, fearful that the United States may yet be drawn into the maelstrom of events there.

In Europe, thirteen years of peace have failed to wipe out the bitter animosities of four years of war. France and Germany, for all practical purposes, are still arrayed against each other and keeping the world in turmoil over peace treaties, debts, reparations, and disarmament.

At home, the political warfare is just beginning, with the Democrats preparing to take over the house of representatives for the first time in thirteen years. They are hopeful, too, of acquiring control of the sen-

President Places Wreath At Tomb Of Unknown U. S. Soldier At Arlington

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. — The National Capital, with President Hoover leading, shaped its annual observance of Armistice Day around the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier today.

At the Arlington cemetery shrine of the Great Unknown, symbolic of all those who lost their lives in France the Chief Executive paid simple tribute in behalf of the whole country.

Accompanying him to the tomb overlooking the Potomac was General John J. Pershing, who commanded the forces in which this anonymous hero fought. Also by the side of the President as the nation's wreath was placed were Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, representing the American military establishment.

Mr. Hoover followed the men through the honor guard of saluting soldiers and placed an additional floral tribute on the tomb in the name of the mothers, wive and sisters who had sustained the great loss in the World War.

From Arlington, President Hoover was scheduled to go to the District of Columbia War Memorial, being dedicated today in West Potomac Park. He will deliver his Armistice Day address there.

Armistice Day Quietly Observed

Majority Of Veterans Leave City For Outside Celebrations

Armisitce Day was observed in a quiet manner here today and with no particular celebration planned, most of the World war veterans of the city left for Ellwood City or Sharon, where big tri-county celebrations were held.

Part of the city closed for the occasion, the banks, city and county offices and a few others closing for the day, while business went on as usual in other establishments.

Most of the citizens who were not busily engaged at some other task scanned the skies throughout the greater part of the morning for a sight of the big dirigible Akron.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11—Both branches of the general assembly stood adjourned today and legislators returned to their home districts to test sentiment on Gov. Gifford Pinchot's 15-fold project advanced to ameliorate distress among the unemployed during the coming winter.

Deliberations will be resumed on Monday night at 9 o'clock.

Speedy action to effect relief was seen in the house as 26 bills were reported out of committees, passed on first reading and public hearings planned. Three of these hearings will be held Monday.

Except for the measure appropriating expenses for the special session, the bills were recommended at once so committees could hold hearings on them.

Hearings Planned.

The hearings planned for Monday are:

2 p. m.—Emergency tax of two cents per gallon for two years on gasoline.

4 p. m.—Stamp tax of one cent per ten cigarettes.

7 p. m.—Billboard tax of three cents per square foot.

Adjournment was taken by the upper branch with comparatively little progress recorded. The judiciary general committee of the senate, however, summoned a round-table discussion of the governor's pro-

Dirigible Forced To Go To Akron Because Of Weather

POOR VISIBILITY CHANGES PLANS

Early this afternoon the U. S. S. Akron had failed to cruise over New Castle or Ellwood City as expected. The big dirigible was in this vicinity all morning, being reported near Pittsburgh early this morning, but apparently weather conditions resulted in the decision of the commander to sail the ship to Akron, Ohio, where there is a hangar.

At noon the Akron was still cruising over Akron, awaiting a change in weather conditions, and whether or not it would come to this section was uncertain.

Thousands in New Castle and Lawrence county have been scanning the skies all day in the hope of getting a glimpse of the Akron, but visibility was so poor that nothing could be seen any great distance. First reports reaching this city were that the Akron was over Meadville, but this evidently was a mistake, as the Akron apparently was not in that vicinity.

(International News Service)

ASHTABULA, O., Nov. 11.—Skimming along easily at between 50 and 60 miles an hour, the giant U. S. S. Akron passed over here shortly before 1 p. m. this afternoon.

The big dirigible, on a training flight which carried it from Lakehurst, N. J., over southern Pennsylvania and part of the Pittsburgh district earlier in the day, was headed toward Erie, Pa.

Hovers Over Akron

AKRON, O., Nov. 11.—Returning to its home port for the first time since it was turned over to the United States Navy, the U. S. S. Akron circled this city in a dense fog shortly before noon today.

Possibility of the U. S. S. Akron participating in the Armistice parade at Pittsburgh, according to schedule, is "extremely poor," it was announced here today by radio man A. W. Bock, second in command at the naval radio reserve station N-I-D.

Due to poor visibility, it is doubtful if the dirigible will attempt to fly to Pittsburgh for the parade, Bock stated. The visibility was about 400 feet at noon, he said.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—"I did not dislike Donaldson."

Edward H. B. Allen, confessed murderer of his sister's sweetheart, Francis A. Donaldson 3rd, held his chin a little higher as he said the words to an International News Service reporter in a cell at the Lower Merien township jail today.

Chalky-faced, his lip swollen into a hard little lump on the left side as the result of a dead man's blow, Young Allen made his first statement about his victim since his arrest in a brief exclusive interview.

Girl Blames Brother.

It was twenty four hours since he emptied a shot gun into Donaldson's side in the fashionable Green Hill farm hotel where his sister's suitor came to plead his cause for the long, last time. A night had elapsed since he rushed from his apartment, drove five miles to get the gun, returned and gave expression to his wrath by murder.

Yet he sat there, saying like a boy: "I did not dislike him."

COLON, Panama, Nov. 11.—Hope for the rescue of eleven men sighted floating in a lifeboat off the coast of Colombia dwindled today when the United States mine sweeper Swan wirelessed it had reached the spot where the craft was seen but could find no trace of it.

Heavy seas were running, increasing fears that the survivors had perished. The Swan wirelessed it was continuing the search.

The search was organized here after the lifeboat was sighted by the pilot of a passenger plane flying between Panama and Colombia. It was believed here that the men were survivors of the steamship Baden Baden, which is overdue here and may have foundered during the Caribbean storm last week.

International News Service received a message from Captain Tenklooster of the steamship Costa Rica in the Caribbean, stating that he had searched for several hours in a heavy northwest gale and pouring rain for the lifeboat, but without result.

ALL CAPITALS IN EUROPE CELEBRATE

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—With profound reverence and solemnity, the former Allied Nations of Europe today commemorated the "journey's end" of millions of war heroes.

Thirteen years from the hour and the day that the armistice ended the great war, the Prince of Wales, deputizing for King George, led the British ceremonies at the Centoph in Whitehall. At the same time, similar ceremonies were held in the capitals of all the former allied nations.

Due to a chilly northeast wind, his medical advisers decided King George should not risk exposure by leading the ceremonies at the Cenotaph. It was while leading the Armistice Day memorial in a chill November rainstorm three years ago that King George contracted the grave illness which nearly resulted in his death.

A short time after the explosion ripped through the houses, Digiacomo arrived on the scene. He was unable to offer any explanation for the bombings.

Patrolman Lester Cunningham, on duty in the section, and William May, a pedestrian, were eye witnesses to the explosions.

Cunningham was reporting to his station, he said, when the first blast let go.

Two Explosions.

"I saw a flash,' he said, "and then the first house was splintered by the explosion. As I notified the sergeant the second explosion came. I ran at once toward the buildings to see if I could help anyone."

May told police the two explosions came within a minute of each other.

Fire Captains H. B. James and Thomas Quinn said they beleived dynamite bombs had caused the blasts although they found no evidence at the scene to corroborate their theory. A triple investigation into cause of the explosions was launched at once by Glassport police, county detectives and fire department officials.

Police were investigating reports the blaze came by way of reprisal for a raid cuased by residents of one of the dwellings, although the reports were unconfirmed.

Attorney General William A. Schnader signified his intention of attending the judiciary session to give his opinion on the relief measures. Senator William H. Earnest, chairman of the committee, immediately sent formal acceptance to Schnader of his offer to be present.

Under the plan which members of the committee hope to work out, the attorney general will rule on all bills to be presented at the special session. The house presented a similar resolution submitted by Representative Grover C. Talbot, Delaware.

Among the group of bills reported out were two that proposed amendments to the constitution. One of them authorizing a bond issue to reimburse contributors to a general relief fund, the other to enable the state to meet wtih greater facility a similar unemployment emergency in the future.

Seven of the 26 measures represented the views of individual members of the house methods of providing relief. The remaining 19 were part of the administration program.

It was understood that the county commissioners association was to be asked for its opinion on the proposal of one of the bills that a temporary suspension of tax sales be allowed under certain conditions.

This particular measure was intended to delay the sale of property for taxes by sheriffs in all counties of the commonwealth.

Visibility Poor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—Poor visibility and a low flying ceiling may prevent the new Navy dirigible Akron from carrying out its scheduled Armistice Day visit to downtown Pittsburgh, Lt. Comdr. Charles E. Rosendahl, its commander, notified the Navy Department today.

The Akron left Lakehurst, N. J. last night and was due over Pittsburgh in time to participate in Armistice Day services there. The dirigible made good progress until she reached McKeesport, Pa., where it was found visibility from there to Pittsburgh was extremely poor. The ceiling over this vicinity was too low for safe flying, Rosendahl reported.

From McKeesport the Akron swung out over Youngstown, O., and at 9:10 a. m. today Rosendahl reported he was proceeding in the direction of Akron while waiting for a clearing of weather conditions in the vicinity of Pittsburgh.

The Akron arrived over Lancaster at 11:58 p. m., over Connellsville, Pa., 6:45 a m., McKeesport, Pa., 7:20 a. m. and Youngstown, O., 9:10 a. m.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Sliding along through a grey, rainy morning, the U. S. S. Akron, newest Navy giant of the skies, was sighted over the southeastern section of Pittsburgh shortly after 8 a. m. today.

Residents who reported sighting the giant dirigible, on an Armistice Day training flight over Southwestern Pennsylvania, said the big ship loomed up darkly for but a few minutes before it was lost again in the mists.

Roar of its eight motors, however, were plainly heard for some time. The ship was headed in the direction of the Monongahela river, apparently to get its bearings before soaring over downtown Pittsburgh.

First reports of the sighting of the dirigible here came slightly more than an hour after it was reported over Connellsville.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 11.—On a training flight over Southwestern Pennsylvania, the U. S. S. Akron, new air giant of the Navy, was reported sighted a short distance east of here at 6:40 a. m. today.

The big dirigible, which will fly over Pittsburgh and adjacent territory today, was heading northwest at a moderate rate of speed, it was reported.

The Akron left her hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., at 7:05 p. m., last night and was sighted over Coatesville, Pa., and Lancaster, Pa., later.

MYSTERY ATTENDS CAUSE OF KILLING OF GIRL'S SUITOR

blames her brother's and her father's dislike for Donaldson for the tragedy, has declined to tell what she knows about the basis for that antagonism.

It is a mystery, even to detectives working on the case, why Young Allen should have objected to his sister's affection for Donaldson, said to have been a likeable young man of excellent family.

Refuses To See Kin.

But Allen regretted his words right away. "I—I don't want to talk about it," he said huskily. "I can't answer questions, I can't explain."

When he was asked if he wanted to see his sister, he pressed his sore lips together without a word. He has already conferred with his father, Horace Allen, retired manufacturer. His sister visited the building yesterday and told police, among other things, that Edward had threatened to "blow Donaldson's head off," if he came to the apartment. She was very much in love with Donaldson, she said, and wanted to marry him. She did not want to see her brother or her father.

Suffer From Shock.

But she spent last night under the same roof as her father. Both were the guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Pearce, of Haverford.

Pearce, an investment broker, said she was not at all well. She and her father are suffering from shock and have refused to give out any statements. They will stay with the Pearces for the next few days.

It is rumored that a reconciliation between father and daughter is being attempted. It has not yet met with success, however—if Miss Allen's conversation with Captain of Detectives Ignatius Mullin, is any indication. She told him, he revealed, that she would never forget that it was the opposition of her father and brother that caused her sweetheart's death.

Had Left Home.

She left her home on Monday, after an argument with her brother, declaring she would never return. Her brother had gone back on an agreement by which the pretty young debutante was allowed to see Donaldson twice a week, even though the family looked with disfavor on his suit. Edward declared Monday that she would have to meet him in the lobby if he came to the hotel, according to Captain Mullin.

"I'm running this house from now on," Young Allen is supposed to have shouted.

Miss Allen packed her bags and left. She met Donaldson and told him about it. It was in an effort to patch up the quarrel, apparently, that Donaldson went to see the Allens for the last time.

Held Without Bail.

Allen will be moved today to the Montgomery county jail at Norristown, where he will be held without bail on a charge of first degree murder. John R. K. Scott, prominent Philadelphia criminal lawyer, would give no indication of the line the defense would take. It is believed Miss Allen, will be appealed to in this connection.

Francis A. Donaldson, Jr., father of the murdered man, said no arrangements for the burial of the young man has been made as yet.

Young Allen, closely guarded by Lower Herion township policemen, was taken from the township jail at 10:30 a. m. and presumably taken to the Montgomery county jail at Norristown.

Meanwhile a checkup of the gun used in the shooting revealed it had been stored at the home of Mrs. H. R. Roberts since early in November until the night of the shooting. That evening Allen slipped into the hallway of the Roberts home and took the gun from its case without her knowledge of that of her sons, Mrs. Roberts revealed. It was last used on November 3 when Allen and one of her sons went hunting, Mrs. Roberts said.

Shortly after 11 a. m. Allen was returned to the township jail.

The youth was taken to the Green Hill Farms apartment where the shooting took place by his guards. There it is believed he was asked to re-enact his part in the drama that culminated in Donaldson's death.

ASK AMERICAN TROOPS TO JOIN IN TIENTSIN PATROL

back to the municipal government this evening.

The fifteenth United States Infantry, under command of Colonel James Taylor, has been standing by during the Sino-Japanese clashes while French and Italian troops were also placed on guard to protect their respective concessions.

Fighting Starts

The fighting today started at 2 a. m. when 250 Chinese appeared near Nankai University, and attacked police and gendarmes.

As the university was within the 300-meter zone from which the Japanese had barred all Chinese, Japanese trench mortars were brought into play to disperse the rioters.

After the bombardment, a Japanese armored car swept out of the concession, made a hasty survey and exchanged rifle fire with some of the Chinese.

During the fighting, electric power from the former Belgian concession was cut off, but the Chinese continued their attack despite the darkness.

Report Attack Made

LONDON, Nov. 11—A Tokio dispatch today to the exchange telegraph company said that 30,000 Chinese troops launched an attack this morning on the Japanese concession at Tientsin.

Six hundred Japanese troops were defending the concession the report said.

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, Nov. 11.—Foreign military assistance, including the employment of United States troops, was requested today by Chinese and Japanese authorities at Tientsin to protect the Japanese concession from attacks by Chinese rebels.

The plan for organizing an international police force of American, British, French and Italian soldiers was advanced by the Chinese and approved by the Japanese after three days of rioting and intermittent Sino-Japanese fighting.

The foreign garrison commanders at Tientsin, including American army officers were reported to have approved the project, but the American legation here stated that United States troops would not join the international patrol unless permission came from Washington.

A dispatch was sent to the State Department, outlining the Sino-Japanese plan, and requesting instructions, while similar action was taken at the same time by the British, French and Italian legations.

If the foreign soldiers undertake the task of guarding the Japanese concession, they will establish a 24-hour patrol in a neutral zone in which the Japanese have forbidden Chinese to enter.

This step was taken after the first attack on Sunday, when 3,000 Chinese, seeking to overthrow the Tientsin municipal government, attacked the Japanese concession when turned away from their original objective.

The Japanese drove them away with a bombardment from trench mortars, which were brought into action again today when the Chinese attack was renewed. Several shells fell in an American missionary school for girls, but no casualties were reported.

According to the Sino-Japanese agreement for the proposed international patrol, no Japanese troops would be assigned to the guard duty, but Chinese gendarmes would be permitted to search suspicious persons within the neutral zone.

Under the plan as explained to Chinese officials here, the foreign troops, would be expected to bear the brunt of any new attack upon the Japanese or other foreign concessions, thus avoiding a further direct clash between the Japanese and Chinese, already at sordpoints in view of the Japanese occupation of Manchuria.

Tokyo reports via London that a large body of Chinese troops had attacked the Tientsin Japanese concession this morning were denied here by Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang. The Togko dispatch said that 30,000 Chinese had launched an attack upon 700 Japanese in the concession. Chang Hsueh-Liang said the report was a "pure fabrication." And denied that his troops were being moved in large numbers to Tientsin.

TOKYO, Nov. 11.—Forecasting graver developments in Manchuria, the war office announced today it was dispatching the eighth Hirosaki army division into Manchuria from Aomori prefecture to meet the 'menacing conditions".

Japan's present force of 13,000 men in Manchuria, it was stated, is insufficient to protect 1,000,000 Japanese scattered over a vast territory against the depredations of Chinese bandits and soldiers.

of police judge Walter Spencer in Santa Monica. He was charged with possession of liquor.

"I was left holding the sack, literally and figuratively," Leavitt said.

Was Handed Sack

"I was in the store weighing myself on some scales when somebody shouted 'here comes Tommy Carr'" declared Leavitt.

"A minute later somebody handed me a sack and said:

'Get rid of this.'

"I didn't know what was in the sack but I tried to be a 'good fellow' and started to run out the back door.

"Just as I stepped into the alley the federal men stopped me, opened the sack and found it filled with whiskey pints.

"One of the officers recognized me, and he didn't seem to know what to do. When I was arraigned the officer insisted I use the name of Mr. Jones. I objected, but he insisted."

Cliff R. Dailey, proprietor of the store, also was arrested and held under bond for a hearing Monday.

Victim Of Circumstances

Dailey denied he was the man that had handed Leavitt the gunny sack.

"I was waiting on a customer at the time. I didn't know the gunny sack was in the store. I think the officers got the wrong man. Leavitt is a victim of circumstances," Dailey said.

"I think the officers were chasing a bootlegger known in these parts and the bootlegger entered the store with a sack, then ran out empty handed," Dailey continued.

The parlors of the Highland United Presbyterian church were the setting for a brilliant afternoon tea and reception Tuesday afternoon when the members of the Baird Missionary Society were hostesses to two hundred and fifty women.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with lamps, gorgeous flowers and greenery and fifty small tables were arranged each with a hostess seated at the head. After the guests had arrived a half hour of conversation and getting acquainted was enjoyed after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. Thomas Lindsey, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, welcomed the guests in a most gracious manner after which Mrs. J. Gail Blim, president of the Baird Missionary Society, introduced the various numbers of entertainment.

Here's New Vick Plan for Better "Control-of-Colds"
Made Possible by New Vick Product Based on New Idea for Prevention of Colds.

New Castle druggists authorized to sell new product on trial to Vicks VapoRub users and refund price if Vick Plan does not reduce family's yearly "Colds-Tax".

Mothers are guardians of the family health and directors of the family budget. It is the mothers who have the worry of colds and their cost. And it is the mothers who especially appreciate the new Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home—just announced by the makers of Vicks VapoRub.

This Plan is made possible by a new preparation, Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, based on a new idea in "preventing" colds. It is a companion product to Vicks VapoRub, the modern method of "treating" colds. That is, they aid and supplement each other.

Here, briefly, is the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home:

1.—Before a Cold Starts.

Use Vicks Drops—just a few drops up each nostril—whenever you have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to be followed by a cold—contact with others having fresh colds, crowds, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on the Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold—inhaling smoke, dust, gases—excesses in living, such as overeating, smoking or drinking—after a hard day, when you are over tired.

In short, don't wait for that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages. Then you are not "catching cold"—you have already caught one.

2.—After a Cold Starts.

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub—now available in "stainless form," if you prefer. Spread on thickly and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day, use Vicks Drops every few hours—any time, any place.

This gives you a full 24-hour treatment and without the risk of too much internal "dosing," which so often upsets the digestion—especially of children. Both these Vick products are external. They can be used freely and as often as needed without the slightest harmful effect.

Trial Offer to Vick Users.

You have Vicks VapoRub. Now, get a bottle of Vicks Nose Drops. Use it with VapoRub as directed in the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home. If you are not satisfied that it actually reduces your high cost of colds this winter, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

ARMISTICE DAY devotions always center about the cenotaphs of the unknown soldiers.

Americans are familiar with the stately memorials at Arlington, under the Arc de Triomphe and in Westminster Abbey. But few in the United States realize to what extent the idea of enshrining an unidentified soldier swept over the countries which participated in the World War.

Symbol of the embattled citizenship of his country, an unidentified soldier—of distinguished or humble birth or sprung from the middle class—rests in his pantheon in 10 capitals, and more memorials are proposed. Italy, Hungary, Rumania, Belgium, Poland, Portugal and Turkey have reverently laid their dead away.

So completely and swiftly did the idea sweep over the world that its origin has been lost, or at any rate there are several versions of it. Paris and England both claim the distinction, an army captain in Paris and a London newspaper man being given the credit by their respective countries.

David Lloyd George, when asked about its authorship, remarked:

"I feel quite sure that the individual, whoever he is, would be quite satisfied with the result of his suggestion."

That apparently has been the dignified attitude of the originator, for no one has come forward to establish his paternity of one of the most effective reminders of the diabolical nature of war that has ever found its way into reality.

PROPHET WHO FAILED

Those with good memories will remember Sir William Crookes, English economist and well meaning philosopher, who attained fame in the closing decades of the last century by his brilliant analysis of world conditions. Some of Sir William's deductions were subsequently proven, but in the year 1900, he startled the world by predicting a world wheat famine in the year 1931, recalls The Butte, Montana, Standard. Well, here is the year 1931 and we have more wheat than a farmer has hay, in fact we have had more than we can sell and more than we could store and other wheat growing nations like Canada and the Argentine have had corresponding surpluses.

The prophet failed to take into consideration, improved methods of wheat growing, greater yields to the acre, use of machinery, and a letdown in the general increase of population in wheat-eating nations. He could not forsee that dieticians and their clients, usually stout ladies and gentlemen, would make white bread almost taboo as a staple article of food. If Sir William had been a real fortune-teller he might have predicted the general use of the automobile and the airplane, the advent of the movies and talkies, the age of filling stations, the World War, the adoption of bobbed hair and short skirts and the rise of gangsters and racketeers.

The man or woman who attempts to pry open the future, is taking serious chances on losing his reputation. One thing is sure, Sir William Crookes, missed his guess by a mile—in fact any other prediction made at random, would probably have come closer of realization. As a prophet Mother Shipman had Sir William beaten four ways from the duce.

SUCCESS OF THE NEW FIREARMS LAW

It is a matter of satisfaction to know that the Witkin anti-firearms law, which has been in force for a little more than two months, has proved to be a success in the largest city of the state, Philadelphia. A total of 231 arrests have been made in that time, and more than half a hundred persons have been convicted and subjected to either fines or imprisonment in that city. Since the act went into effect the police have received 926 applications for licenses and have granted 800 the right to carry deadly weapons in Philadelphia. In other words, the law is being regarded seriously by the Philadelphia police, the magistrates and the courts. Those who are entitled to have guns in their possession have been given licenses; but where they failed to show a good reason for the privilege their pleas have been rejected.

It is quite evident that it will only be a question of time when the people generally become accustomed to the new order of things. The police are going about the enforcement of the law in an aggressive manner, but with a desire to cause law-abiding citizens a minimum amount of inconvenience. On the other hand, by reducing the number of deadly weapons in unauthorized hands they will eventually cut down brutal and disorderous crime. It required a hard uphill fight to get this bill through the legislature. As time goes on the wisdom of the law will be pretty generally acknowledged.

FINALLY, GENERAL COXEY GETS OFFICE

Public office, sought repeatedly and unsuccessfully by the onetime "General" Jacob S. Coxey, has finally come to him at the mature age of 77. On various occasions he has reached out for the governorship, for the senatorial toga and for the privilege of House membership in Washington. He would have accepted these posts as either an Independent or a Republican. As a Republican he was last week elected mayor of Massillon, a lesser honor than some he has eyed but an honor nevertheless.

It is noteworthy that a chief plank in his present platform bears close resemblance to one of the ideas which motivated his famed march on Washington in '94, the march which earned him a short jail term (for trespassing on lawns) in the capital, and his title of "general" the Cleveland News points out. This calls for the issuance of $200,000 in non-interest-bearing bonds for the unemployed. In '94 he advocated government absorption of such bonds from states, counties, towns and villages to proceed with public works and provide employment. The kernal of this thought has persisted through the years with him.

Massillon may seem a rather limited laboratory when compared with those represented by his sundry candidacies. But age brings with it an increasing disposition to be contented with less, to appreciate things as they come. And "General" Coxey, mayor-elect, is 77.

All Of Us

I Remember a Dawn Darkness, Rain, Weariness And Then a "Commonplace Sunrise"

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I REMEMBER a night.

A night that was black and scarlet and thunderously awful. The heavy rain poured down upon us.. The evil lightning flashed terribly across the woods through which we moved. Far off red flame lit the horizons and a dull and tireless blooming would not cease. Sometimes a flare went up and made a gray-white landscape in the dripping rain. It was not a pretty night. It was a night in the midst of war.

We were tense. We were fagged. Some of us had not slep for days. There was no place to sleep. There was too much to do. . . . We kept going. . . . For me, I think, this was the second or the third night without sleep. That did not matter much. Sleep had become a habit I used to have, but could only think of then as if it were childhood memory. Other people slept, to be sure. People who were safe, people who had homes without shell holes in them. People who complained if a dog barked or if a happy man sang a song in the street at midnight. But I was past all that.

I stumbled when I walked. I drowsed at the wheel. I was carrying wounded in a flimsy automobile. Through muddy fields. Into small shell holes and out of them. Over cobbled roads, too, that hurt the wounded terribly and made them cry out in the black night. . . . Once, to my shame, I remember turning and shouting back to a man who would not stop his moaning. He stopped, and I was ashamed.

The night lasted so long, so very long. We drove without lights, and almost instinctively turned aside when elephant trucks thundered by. . . . We ran into ditches and emerged from them somehow. We kept painfully ahead. . . . We ached. We dozed and woke with starts. We were children in eternal night. And lived only in hope that the dawn, some time, would surely come. The day might be more terrible than this, but at least it would be the day, with its brightness and its clarity, and we would be able to endure it.

And then, after many ages, the skies lightened just a little. They were gray instead of black. And the rain ceased, and we could see the trunks of the trees and the leafy mass overhead. And the flashes of guns were not so scarlet, not so terrible. And we could see what we were doing. . . . We were coming into the dawn, and it seemed almost too sweet to believe. But the day did come. It really did. The clouds broke away and the sun came over a poor, torn hillside and shone gallantly upon our haggard faces. It was too good to be true, but it WAS true. At last the day was ours, and it made us brave again.

I remember that precious dawn. Many a time I've remembered how we welcomed that precious, most commonplace sunrise as if it were a miracle. It has made common water and common bread and common friends and all common life seem sweeter ever since—and, as any man would, I have blessed that awakening experience.

HERE'S FUNNY ONE

Although the electric light is a commonplace thing to this generation, it is really not so far back in years when most of the homes were lighted by kerosene lamps. When the lamps were lit at night, one in the center of the table, one or two high up on wall-brackets, they cast shadows on the floors and walls that transformed a dull, ordinary room into an enchanting fairlyland. At bedtime, the wick of the lamp was turned down by the master of the house until the flame barely flickered. Then, drawing in a deep breath that bulged the cheeks, with his pursed lips over the top of the chimney, he expelled his breath sharply and out went the light, leaving a smoldering wick that sent up a sickly, odoriferous trail of oily smoke which nobody minded because everybody was used to it. After the lamp came the illuminating gas. But at first, gas-lights were to be found only in city homes and hotels, and many a countryman on his first visit to the city, unacquainted with their use, blew out the light before retiring and woke up to find that he had sprouted wings. As a result of the many casualties to country visitors who blew out the gas-flame, the hotels posted notices over each gas-jet, "Don't Blow Out the Gas." Following the gas came the electric light. About the time that incandescent lights came on the scene, Silas and Ephraim were comparing experiences of their visits to New York. Silas had been to the big town ten years previous and had not forgotten the great advanture. "I had a right good time," he said, "except that I couldn't get to sleep because the light in my bedroom was a-burnin' all night." "Why didn't yeh blow it out?" asked Eph. "Because there was a sign hangin' from the light that said not to blow it out," replied Silas. "Well," said Eph, "I had the same trouble when I was in New York last week. The durned light was a-shinin' in my eyes all night." "Was there a sign not to blow it out?" asked Silas. "No," said Eph, "there wasn't any sign at all but the durned thing was in a closed bottle an' I couldn't blow it out."

Naval Holiday Idea Appraised As World Stabilizing Force

American Comments Emphasize Fact That One-Year Agreement Would Have Little Effect On Relative Positions Of Various Nations

Italy's proposal of a naval holiday as a preliminary to the coming conference of nations at Geneva impresses many Americans as a logical means of giving greater force to the deliberations of that conference. Approval from the American government is believed to have been an important factor, and it is held that the favorable replies from several important powers have already had a heartening effect on the world.

"The present proposal," according to the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, "differs somewhat from the Italian formula, which France and Japan strenuously opposed. It does not involve suspension of naval construction already begun, and so carries no threat of an increase in the army of the unemployed." The Daily News says of the principles involved: "Clearly, a general naval holiday would not reduce the relative strength or efficiency of the American navy. It is not incompatible with a policy of construction in accordance with the London treaty and the ratios established by it. Enlightened friends of the naval establishment will not take exception to such a proposal. A strong, adequate navy is essential to security, but international naval holidays and equitably proportioned reduction programs are not inconsistent with that fundamental doctrine."

"Officially and popularly," says the WHEELING INTELLIGENCER, "this country always has favored low armament, both on land and sea," pointing to the fact that the United States has "gone to the point of refraining from building up to treaty strength," that "we have embraced every opportunity to favor further restriction of armed force," and that "in the present instance the administration is merely living up to traditional and consistent American policy, a position which has been maintained despite the tireless efforts of our alarmists and those interested in war machinery."

"The next step," in the judgment of the SIOUX CITY JOURNAL, "would be a pact among the foremost naval powers and those of second and third rank, binding all in a solemn agreement in the interest of both economy and peace." The Journal adds that "the report from Geneva of partial success is of more importance when connected with the coming arms conference, scheduled for February. The conference thus would be held while the holiday was in effect. The agreement would be bound to exert upon the conferees a powerful influence for armament reductions."

"The confidence begot by this move will give new assurance as larger issues arise," thinks the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, holding that "it will add greatly to the success of the conference in February, and take a heavy financial burden off the shoulders of the nations participating," while "a naval construction holiday at this time would do much to alleviate international fear of war, and thus help to restore confidence."

"Its value is chiefly psychological," concludes the PROVIDENCE BULLETIN, pointing out that "actually, the relative positions of the various powers remain unchanged" and offering the appraisal: "No sacrifice of strength is involved. No national plans of construction, which are mapped out long in advance, are interfered with. Work on vessels already under way is to be maintained. Contracts already awarded for future construction, even during the holiday year, are to be carried out. Old units which would go out of active service during the year are allowed to be replaced.' Conceding that "on the surface, it would seem that it is but a pious gesture,' The Bulletin states: "There is one feature of the holiday which may prove to be of tremendous importance to the future of the world, and that is that, for the first time since the close of the war, and probably for the first time in history, the great nations are agreeing to stabilize their relative positions for one year."

"It will be highly favorable to the hopes of the conference," as viewed by the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL, "if it can be held in an atmosphere of suspended naval rivalries and ambitions. It was certainly not the notion of the Sig. Grandi or Mussolini or that of President Hoover that Italy or the United States would suffer by a year's suspension of naval building, provided it were general for all nations. And that holds for all projects of curtailment."

"The reply of the United States, agreeing to an armament holiday for a year," contends the SALT LAKE DESERET NEWS, "will please a majority of the citizens of the country. * * * If armament preparations are reduced to a minimum, the success of disarmament at the conference in February will have larger chances. * * * President Hoover's disposition is manifestly toward peace and disarmament, but he has an added interest in reducing public expenditures by economies, not only in the navy but in all departments of government."

Joining in the conclusion that the truce "is expected to contribute to the success of the conference," the PORT HURON TIMES-HERALD emphasizes the fact that work on existing projects will continue, and presents the general estimate of the situation: "It is agreed that to throw a lot of men out of their jobs suddenly at this time would be bad economic practice. No new projects will be started, however, during this year; and that will be another small step along the way the world's statesmen are trying to lead us. That we are going mighty slowly ought not to worry us greatly. The world has been more than two thousand years in building up its navies. We should have no reason to feel disheartened if it is two or three decades before we find we can get along without them again."

WEALTH AND HOSPITALITY

Some well-to-do persons add to the joy of others and must bring happiness to themselves by the courteous manner in which they offer their homes for meetings to organizations whose members are perhaps less fortunately situated.

There is something that warms the heart and makes life brighter when a cordial greeting welcomes visitors to a beautiful home.

This is especially true when the guests are persons who for financial reasons are not generally associated with such a host and hostess.

If there is a patronizing manner evidenced the visit is spoiled.

But an invitation to a body of persons unable to visit often in homes of the luxuriously furnished few, when suggested from a fine sense of real hospitality, is something to be long remembered.

Of course real folk extend their invitations in a cordial manner.

They have been long enough accustomed to beautiful surroundings to be almost unconscious of a difference in background among those they entertain.

They are broad-minded enough to care nothing whatever about what others might think of their democratic spirit in inviting guests.

It is to be regretted that there are so few who can afford good, clean average citizens the delight of visiting in a home unusually attractive.

Just Folks

ARMISTICE DAY

Was it for just a day the guns were stilled,
A breathing spell to rest their weary men?
Was it for just a whim their blood was spilled?
Or why this talk of war so soon again?

Have we no memory of the tears we shed?
No living recollections of our pain?
Have we forgotten how we mourned our dead
That we can blithely speak of war again?

This was the day— just thirteen years ago!
We thought the guns were stilled forevermore.
I wonder if those brave dead soldiers know
How soon again we heard the talk of war?

Scores Hurled From Beds, Several Injured Slightly In Scranton Bombing

Three Men Seen To Speed Away From Scene Of Bombing In Big Sedan

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 11.—Scores of persons were hurled from their beds and several persons were slightly injured here early today when a terrific explosion that could be heard a mile away, completely wrecked the home of Chevalier Fortunato Tiscar, Italian vice consul.

Police said a dynamite bomb had been placed along side the front porch of the Tiscar residence, a three-story frame building, located in a fashionable residential section.

Suffer Shock

Tiscar and his wife, asleep in bed on the first floor of the residence were buried under a pile of debris, but were only slightly injured.

The 76-year-old consul, however, suffered greatly from shock and was unable to talk. He was removed with his wife to the home of Dr. F. A. Bartecchi, Lackawanna county coroner.

The entire front of the Tiscar residence was blown out and the debris was strewn over an entire city block.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Maycock, who reside in an apartment on the second floor of the Tiscar residence were also slightly injured.

Many Homes Damaged

Every home within a radius of a block was damaged. Windows were blown out, plaster torn from walls, and steam and gas pipes damaged.

The home of Edward Warren, assistant district attorney and brother of Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Republican national committeewoman, was damaged.

Police said at least a dozen persons suffered cuts when window glass showered in on their beds.

Authorities are at a loss as to the motive for the bombing. Police were told that a green sedan with three men sped away from Quincy avenue, scene of the explosion, shortly before the terrific blast rent the air.

grand jury, charging him with the killing of Mrs. Astha Eicher, Park Ridge, Ill., widow, her three children, Greta 14, Harry 12 and Annabelle 9, and Mrs. Dorothy Lemke of Worcester, Mass., in his garage at Quiet Dell, some three miles from here.

The indictments against Powers were returned after the grand jury had heard only a few of the 32 witnesses listed for appearance in the presentation of evidence against Powers.

Powers, the indictments charge, slew the Park Ridge widow, her children and Mrs. Lemke after luring them here through matrimonial clubs by means of which he had represented himself as seeking a wife and home.

His trial on the indictments is expected to be called late this month or early in December, after other pending criminal cases have been finished.

Probe is Started.

Meantime, police and county authorities strove to determine circumstances surrounding the death of Sfikas, who was last seen in Powers' company here on June 10, when Sfikas disappeared.

Sfikas' skull had been fractured, police established, but whether he had been shot in the head would not be revealed by Coroner L. C. Goff, who conducted an examination.

Near the body was found a rusted .38 caliber pistol, with one chamber empty.

Friends of Sfikas said he had two $100 Liberty bonds and a quantity of currency on his person when he disappeared. According to police $85 was found in pockets of the clothing on the body, eliminating the theory he had been slain with robbery as a motive.

Since the time of Sfikas' disappearance, police said, it has been rumored the bootblack was another of the "Bluebeard" slayer's victims, but no confirmation of the rumors had been attempted.

All along the line of march the buildings and streets were decorated with American flags and bunting, the city taking on a gala attire for the big occasion.

Armistice Meeting

Immediately following the close of the parade the marchers went to the Lincoln high school auditorium, where the program of the day was carried out commencing at noon.

'TIS ARMISTICE DAY BUT WORLD PEACE IS NOT YET APPARENT

ate, which means that with a Republican president in the White House and a national election just ahead there will be unceasing warfare between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

No Political Truce

Suggestions for a political truce when congress convenes have fallen flat. There is going to be none.

The Democrats, with a paper majority of three in the house, are going to formulate their own legislative program and seek to have it enacted. It will be formed during the next four weeks. If it is acceptable to the White House, the Democrats say well and good; if not, they will try to put it through over White House opposition.

The Republicans, their backs against the wall for the first time since 1918, similarly plan to formulate their own program and endeavor to elect a speaker. President Hoover is now working on it. Attempts to commit the Democrats to support it in advance have failed.

But there is to be no political armistice. That much is assured.

The Democrats have plenty of dissension in sight over the distribution of prized chairmanships once they organize the house. The southerners are in the saddle under the seniority rule, but the northern and western Democrats have no intention of allowing all the plums to go south. Bitter words probably will be exchanged between Democrats before this matter is smoothed out.

Internal Strife

The Republicans are torn internally over their plans. Rep. John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, is insistent that he shall be continued as Republican leader if Garner is elected speaker. A powerful section of the Republican party in the house is demanding a change in leadership. Harsh words will likely pass between Republicans before it is settled.

In whatever direction Washington looked today there appeared conflict, not peace, on this Armistice day.

TEXAS DOCTOR TRAPPED UNUSUAL SPECIMENS

WACO, Tex., Nov. 10.—Two sladangs or gaurs, rare specimens of the bovine family, are to be presented to some American museum by Dr. W. G. Trice here. The strange trophies were killed by Dr. Trice in a big game hunt in Southern Asia, Sumatra and Indo-China, from which he just has returned.

The only sladang known to be in captivity is at Saigon, French Indo-China. The sladang has a black body, with massive horns, red underbody and white hair on its legs.

Dr. Trice also bagged two elephants, three tigers, one lion, two leopards, two barking deer, one water buffalo, one banting and five monkeys. While in Abyssinia, he was the guest of Ras Tassari Mahonen, who claims descent from King Solomon.

SEEK TO DETERMINE EXTENT OF PRODUCTS

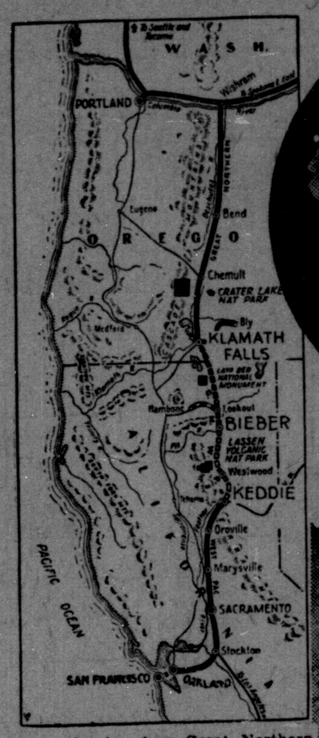

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 11—Engineers are seeking to determine the extent of deposits of manganese ore, fire clay and coal, reported discovered in the vicinity of Tunkhannock.

Plans are being made to develop the tracts if they are shown to be profitable commercially.

The manganese deposits are particularly important as the main source of supply for the United States is Cuba, with smaller deposits found in Nevada.

A spike-driving celebration, on Nov. 10, at Bieber, Cal., marks the completion of the first construction of a new railroad line in years. The spike will be driven at the point of the linking of 200 miles of new road, between Klamath Falls, Ore., present southern terminus of the Great Northern, and Keddie, Cal., on the main line of the Western Pacific. The new road provides a new through route from the north Pacific coast to San Francisco, as well as the east. The Great Northern is the railroad founded by James J. Hill, "Empire Builder of the West," who drove a golden spike 20 years ago, at Bend, Ore., marking the first step in his plan to extend the Great Northern from the Columbia river to California. Prominent participants in the ceremony will be Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, and Arthur Curtiss James, largest stockholder in both great systems, who will drive the golden spike. The road likewise opens a new region.

News Man Spends Five Hours On Roof And Sees--No "Akron"

During a vigil on top of The News Building today, of approximately five hours in search of the Akron which was scheduled to soar this city a News man, although he did not catch a glimpse of the World's largest airship saw many other interesting things. A murky cloud acted as the background and made the buildings, trees, and other obstacles clear.

Looking southward the first thing that caught the writer's eyes was the Carnegie Steel smoke stack. Gazing at the stack from the wrong side of the glasses it appeared to be a lighthouse. To the right of the stack the Carnegie Steel plant was prominent. Another picturesque sight was the hilly sheep hill district. All that could be seen on the western part of the city was a mass of clouds. Still no dirigible and the critic thought that he would continue to enjoy the scenery.

After a lookout of about one hour the writer noticed the sun trying to fight its way through the clouds and cast its shadow towards this city. The clouds wouldn't give in and Old Man Sol was forced to stay behind. One getting an airplane view of the city would readily get the impression that New Castle was an industrial center judging from the smoke which crowded the air.

Then came the northern view of the city. This proved the most interesting sight. The Scottish Rite cathedral with its elaborate architecture struck the writer's eyes immediately. Looking at the cathedral from a far distance one would believe it to be a castle. The Castleton hotel confronted the reporter immediately too.

Looking north a bit farther the old Shenango hospital building made an attractive appearance. Situated on a hill the former hospital looked like a big mansion. Still looking farther away the bare trees and hilly section lying behind the building looked picturesque and is a sight worth seeing. The newly erected St. Mary's church building with its sparkling poles added zest to the scenery. Due to the Lawrence Saving and Trust building and the First National bank which blockaded further sight seeing in the eastern part of the city the writer was not able to see the major part of the eastern section.

The court house could not be seen. Having spent close to five hours and still no dirigible the writer decided to come down to civilization.

ROBBERY ATTEMPTED AT WACHS STORE

An attempt was made during the night to break into and rob the shoe store of A. I. Wachs, located at 26 West Long avenue. The robbers were evidently frightened away as they did not succeed in getting into the store. They had removed the putty from two rear windows. Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Thomas Lynch made the investigation today.

GAS WORKERS WILL GO TO SLIPPERY ROCK

An oyster supper and dance will be held by employes of the local and Slippery Rock offices of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company at the Odd Fellows hall, Slippery Rock, Friday evening. Ernest Grimes of the Slippery Rock office, is in charge of arrangements for the affair.

OWNS CORD BED OF GREAT AGE

Mrs. Edna Smith, 1410 Highland avenue, is the owner of an antique, that is not only of great value but is so rare and unusual that it is attracting the attention of all persons, who know about it. It is a walnut cord bed, which was constructed by the grandfather of Mrs. Smith and is at least 104 years old.

Accepts Call To Christian Church

Colorado Minister To Take Up Duties At Long Avenue Church

FIRST SERVICE TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Announcement was made today of the acceptance by Charles Warren Johnstone, minister of the West Pike's Peak Christian church, Colorado Spring, Colo., of the pastorate of the Central Christian church of this city. The call was extended to him on October 18 and official acceptance of the call has just been received by the officials of the local church.

Rev. Johnstone closed his work in the famous resort city last Sunday, November 8, and he will begin his ministry at the Central Christian church on next Sunday, November 15.

The incoming minister, in spite of the fact that he is a young man in his thirties, has had a varied career and has a colorful and interesting history. A native of South Carolina, he entered the theatrical profession early in boyhood as a juvenile performer. As an actor, director and playwright he devoted his entire time to the amusement field until ten years ago.

Years of globe trotting and close contact with men of every race and creed, introduced many unusual experiences and brought a deep personal knowledge of life.

He is a veteran of the World war, having served in both the English and American armies and has been a non-commissioned officer in the military police department of the 45th National Guard division for the past two years.

At the close of the World war, he re-entered the theatrical field, only to desert the stage for the ministry, immediately following his conversion at Athens, Ga., in 1921. Educated for the ministry at three church and state institutions in the mountains of Tennessee, he did outstanding work during his student ministry with the primitive mountaineers to whom he ministered and has since held successful pastorates in Oklahoma and Colorado.

In addition to leading the West Pike's Peak church, he has also served on the faculty of the Pike's Peak seminary, devoted much time to Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scout work and directed the Easter sunrise prayer service held annually in the Garden of the Gods, a service which draws thousands of worshippers each Easter morning.

Rev. Johnstone is the author of several books, sacred plays and short stories, and comes to New Castle highly recommended as a fluent speaker, a forceful preacher and a tireless church and civic worker. He is an active member of the American Legion and Lions club.

Mrs. Johnstone, who, with her three small children, will visit with relatives in Illinois before joining her husband here on December 1, is also an ordained minister and trained religious worker. She specializes in organizing and developing a large junior church, in which work she has has unusual success.

The topics announced by Rev. Johnstone for Sunday, November 15, in the Central Christian church will be as follows: Morning, "Facing the Challenge" and evening, "Evading the Issue."

Salvation Army Work Presented To Ministers

Work As Carried On Here Is Shown In Detail By Ensign V. Thomsen

Work of the Salvation Army as carried on here was presented in a detailed manner on Monday to the New Castle Ministerial association and at the conclusion of remarks of Ensign V. Thomsen, who told of the work being done, the activities of the Salvation Army here was endorsed by the association.

In spite of the fact that the army is no longer a participant in the Community chest and the fact, that it will find it necessary to carry on its own campaign for funds, which will be done in December, the Army is "carrying on" and doing its full share in helping out the community, in the present distressing times.

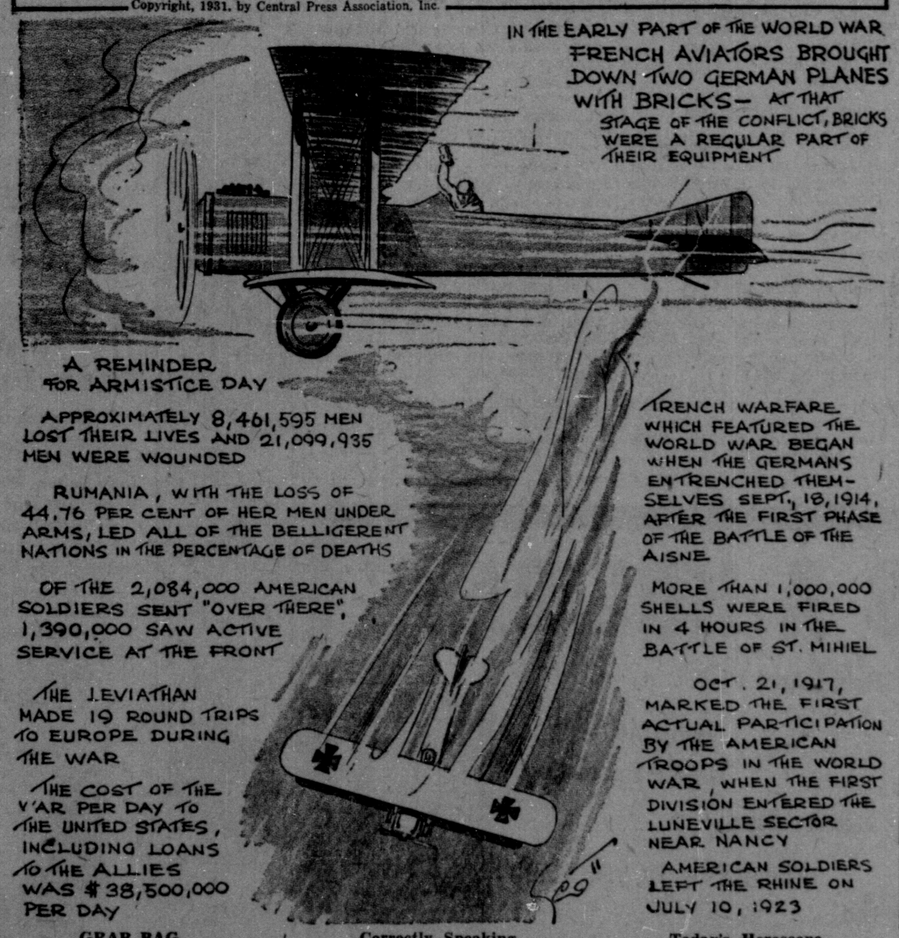

PIONEERS UNDER-DRAWN

(International News Service)

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 11—Movies depicting pioneer hardships on the westward trek to the Oregon country are entirely wrong, declared Archer Butler Hulbert, director of the Stewart Commission on Western History, before a convention of 500 teachers. Difficulties encountered were really far greater, he said. Movies are to be praised, however teachers learned, for arousing interest and enthusiasm for the heroism of those who pioneered the West.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Doesn't seem like thirteen years ago since a group of generals met in a railroad car up on the Western Front, and after more or less argument signed the Armistice. One can hardly credit the flight of time but if our calendar is right, it is just 13 years ago.

They do say that there was considerable to do about the affair, in the cities, but where this department was we didn't know anything about the Armistice until late in the afternoon. And then the only noise making apparatus available was a couple of pans the K. P's had over in the kitchens.

Check back with a lot of men who saw service and you get a lot of interesting answers as to where they were. Saw half a dozen or so today and they were scattered from California. One lad was right up near Metz, another was in France, just where he doesn't know, another was in Paris, another was down in Italy, still another was in camp in California, and another was aboard a battle wagon in the Atlantic ocean.

And if your ex-service man seems a trifle detached today, if he seems to be uninterested in the ordinary things of life, there isn't anything the matter, he's just back to November 11, 1918, when a world of carnage came to an end.

Got a note in today's mail which contained a clipping from an Altoona newspaper concerning the football game played here a couple of weeks ago, and a request that it should be reprinted. The courtesy of Mr. Moore is appreciated but the article won't be reprinted. Because a boy with a sophomoric complex is permitted to vent his spleen in printers' ink, and because he does not know the game, is no reason why his vapid outburst should find space in a newspaper that tries to present things as they are.

I'm wondering if the truck driver who crashed a coupe near the corner of North and Apple Way early today is going to repair the damage. The damage consisting of one door handle twisted out of the socket and other damage to the door.

The truck driver appeared to have other business to attend to, for after looking around to see whether the car was still on its four wheels he drove off down the alley. But what's a couple of doors among friends?

YOUTH BREAKS ARM PLAYING FOOTBALL

Gene, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fox of 426 Garfield avenue is recovering from the effects of a broken arm sustained while playing football with a group of companions Monday afternoon.

Only a comparatively short time ago, he had been seriously ill and was confined to bed for many weeks, this being the second stroke of misfortune in his young life.

MILLION MUSEUM VISITORS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Last year more than 1,300,000 persons visited the Field Museum and from present indications that number will be greatly exceeded this year. The museum's expenditures last year were approximately $900,000 which included its share of the various 1930 expeditions. However, only a compartively small part of the cost of the expeditions is borne by the museum. The rest is subscribed by friends.

Have Roles In School Play

GEORGE HAWK

George Hawk has been chosen for the part of Co-rado in the senior high school play, "Death Takes a Holiday". He must contend with growing hopelessness and desperation against Death for the hand of one of the guests at a house party. His simplicity and youth make him an excellent foil for the sinister power and maturity of Prince Sirki, in whose guise Death masquerades among the guests.

Miss Dorothy Moore is another of the finds of this year's class in dramatics who will appear in "Death Takes a Holiday". She is cast for the part of Rhoda Fenton and is another of the younger women in the action who fall in love with Death. To increase the dramatic contrast Rhoda personifies all the loveliness of youth.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Unified Operation Of Oil Pools Suggested

Propose Equitable Distribution Among Owners In Proportion To Acreage Holdings

J. Edgar Pew, Philadelphia, Former President Of Institute Makes Suggestion

By JAMES D. FOSTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—A demand for a vigorous declaration approving unified operation of oil pools was made before the American Petroleum institute here today by J. Edgar Pew, Philadelphia, a former president of the institute.

Pew, who has been mentioned in a three cornered fight for the presidency, with E. B. Reesor, incumbent, of Tulsa, Okla., and S. J. St. Clair of Los Angeles, said the industry could double the average production of pools at the same time cut in half the number of wells required, under a plan of unification.

Equitable Distribution

He proposed equitable distribution among owners in proportion to their acreage holdings.

Production methods must be reformed he advised the delegates, briefly submitting his idea in this form:—

1—Unqualified adoption of a unit plan of production.

2—Acceptance, as a fundamental principle, that each owner in a pool is entitled to his equitable share, in oil and gas, as opposed to the present anarchic rule of everybody getting all as fast as he can.

"I believe 75 per cent of the industry favors such a program." Pew said, "I want to see us solidly united behind it."

Gain Understandings

Referring to a statement by President Hoover when he was secretary of commerce, that an amendment to the Sherman act permitting unified operation. "Seems to be advisable," Pew expressed confident belief that both the public and the legislative attitude toward the industry are now much more understanding and friendly than in the past, and that if legislation were needed there is a most favorable prospect of getting it.

"An industry that has seen half of its production under martial law" (referring to Oklahoma and Texas fields) and all of it under the accusation of incompetency and profligacy may well take stock of its future," he warned. "It is useless to inveigh longer against government interference in business, or to denounce revolutionists who disagree with us."

Plan is Sound.

Referring to the legal aspect of unified production W. P. Z. German of the Skelly Oil company declared the plan was sound, logical and there should be no legal obstacle to it. He considered some legislative regulation necessary to enforce unity of action in each pool, and to remove fear of the anti-trust laws.

Legislation to carry such a program into effect would be constitutional if it bears a reasonable relation to the object of conversation and the protection of co-equal rights of the producers, in his opinion.

Are Closely Linked.

John R. Suman of the Humble Oil & Refining company said the conservation of expulsive power of the polls' gas was in the interest of all owners. He explained the digging of wells, and recited experiences in the Kettleman Hills, Yates, Sugarland, Big Lake and other fields.

Edward F. Loomis, in a discussion of railway and motor truck competition said the petroleum and motor industries are closely linked. He advised preparation to combat a possible increase in motorization facilities and fuel taxes. The transport service of motors will survive the depression in his opinion, and he believes that pioneers in the trucking industry should be protected.

Deer Killed By Poisoned Water

Bailings From Gas Well In Tioga County Have Killed Fourteen Deer

(International News Service)

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 11.—State game commission attaches today erected barricades at several points in southwestern Tioga county where 14 deer died as a result of licking the bailings from a gas well drilled about three miles west of Leetonia.

John D. Berrier, divisional supervisor of the commission, conducted an investigation which resulted in erection of the barricades after hunters reported finding the carcasses of many deer.

The bailings, containing chloride of calcium, were thrown into a pond after being taken from the well casements. Berrier said the deer licked the bailings with a natural craving for water resulting. Mixture of drinking water and the chemical caused a reaction which killed the animals

Jury Is Still Out In Insurance Case

Question Of Whether Notice Of Removal Of Goods Was Given Is Issue

At the time of going to press no verdict had been reached by a jury in the case of Rosiro Nastase against the North River Insurance company, which was tried before Judge R. L. Hildebrand in county court.

The North River company, thru a local agency, insured household goods of Nastase for $1500, while he was living at Hillsville. He moved to Campbell, O., where his house burned down and his goods were destroyed.

Natase claims he notified an agent of the company that he was going to move. The agent denied at the trial that he had received such notice. The insurance company is trying to get out of paying the policy on the ground that no notice of removal was given, although the company did not return any premium paid by Nastase.

The case went to the jury about 10 o'clock this morning.

GETS MOST VOTES BUT LOSES RACE

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 11.—Frank Horner got more votes for commissioner of Venango county in the recent election than any other candidate, but a "boner" will prevent him from taking office.

Horner polled 6,029 votes on a People's Economy ticket, where his name appeared as J. Frank Horner, and he got 2,239 on a Prohibition party ticket. On the latter ticket, however, his name appeared as Frank Horner, so the total vote won't count.

Girl Identifies Body Of Lover In Pittsburgh Morgue

Young Akron Girl Goes To Pittsburgh To See Mangled Body Of Lover

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Wrapped in a lavender handkerchief, a love note today rested in the hand of William H. Smith, 23, of Richland, Va., at the county morgue here where Smith's body lay for five days before it was identified.

"My Darling Bill," it read, "I'll die still loving you. Your Eva."

The note was written by Eva Dean Shepherd, 19, of Akron, O., who today identified the body as that of Smith. The youth was killed last Friday in the Glenwood yards of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad when he fell beneath a train.

Miss Shepherd identified Smith. Then, her body shaken with sobs, she asked Deputy Coroner Stanley Guzenski if she might place the note in Smith's hand.

Smith's father, Miss Shepherd told authorities, is Rufus Smith, of Richland. She said she had known the younger Smith for three years.

Youth Indicted For Escape From Federal Officers

Arthur "Hunk" Ambrose, Indicted For Escaping From Federal Marshals At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Arthur ("Hunk") Ambrose, who surrendered to federal officials recently after a sensational dash for freedom while being transported from Erie to the Atlanta penitentiary to serve a white slave sentence, today was under indictment by a federal grand jury for escaping from government marshals.

William Brennan and Tom Martini of Pittsburgh are charged with having aided his escape by concealing him here. Frank Merriman was indicted for allegedly aiding Ambrose in severing the iron chain which bound the two prisoners together.

Ambrose dashed from a car window in the Fort Wayne station of the Pennsylvania railroad. Accompanied by his mother, he later surrendered. The court recently appointed a sanity commission to examine Ambrose on his mother's petition that a bullet lodged near the base of the skull rendered him irresponsible for his actions.

More Power Put In Coast Lights

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—More powerful lights, to aid the coastwise traffic along the shores of South California and Florida, have been announced by the Lighthouse Service of the Department of Commerce. Three of the well-known primary lighthouses, and a lightship in the Gulf of Mexico, have just been improved by the installation of more modern apparatus.

The first, at Cape Romain, S. C., northward of Charleston, has been increased in power from 280,000 to 430,000 candlepower. The lens in the light tower has been modified and the incandescent oil vapor illuminating apparatus has been replaced by electric incandescent light.

Further south, about midway in the length of the Florida east coast, Cape Canaveral Lighthouse now has a light of 430,000 candlepower. Canaveral is one of the group of Florida lighthouses which guide vessels approaching the Straits of Florida entrance to the Gulf of Mexico.

Medical Experts Fight Eye Disease

(International News Service)

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 11.—The Federal Government has thrown 15 additional medical experts into the battle against the dreaded trachoma, an unpleasant eye disease prevalent on the Indian reservations of the West.

The theory once held, that trachoma was caused by improper diet, has not been substantiated by recent investigations, according Dr. W. F. Cogswell, secretary of the Montana State Board of Health. Efforts to isolate the germ which is supposed to cause the disease have thus far been unsuccessful.

Trachoma causes granules to form on the eyelid. These granules rub against the eyeball and, in some cases, cause blindness. Indians seem to be more susceptible than white people. The disease is most prevalent in wind-blown, dusty regions.

DAY IN PITTSBURGH

Observations In 7th Ward

The most pleased creature on the streets yesterday was a sleek gray cat. She darted out of a North Liberty street cellar, carrying in her mouth a newly conquered gray mouse, not so sleek. She darted up the street, dashed in between two buildings, scaled an eight foot wooden fence and disappeared with her captive.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday's bright, dry weather dried the grass and brush out thoroughly and resulted in numerous grass fires in the vicinity. Firemen from the local department fought a blaze behind a North Liberty street service station Tuesday afternoon and extinguished it. Several volunteers helped.

Two other grass fires, not so menacing as the seventh ward fire, could be seen eating away grass, leaves and brush along Atlantic avenue.

What a contrast the weather was just 18 years ago! Seventh Ward and citizens in other parts of the city remember it well. There were no grass fires then—no siree! The wind was howling and snow was falling furiously, just about this time in 1913. Many a family was snowed in, roads were blocked—and it all left an indelible memory on the minds of local residents.

A large truck from the Municipal Golf Course passed through here Tuesday afternoon. A large carpet covered the baggage which was being carried.

Wild grapes and cucumbers were being peddled here from place to place yesterday afternoon. The peddler carried the grapes in a basket and the cucumbers in a bag over his shoulder.

Oil Industry May Be Placed In Utilities Group By Congress

Unless Industry Reforms Itself, Steps Will Be Taken For Regulation

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. — Possibility that the oil industry would be declared a public utility and regulated as such was expressed here yesterday by J. Edgar Pew of Philadelphia, who is attending the American Petroleum Institute's meeting. Pew is a former president of the institute.

Pew said he believes oil will be placed in the public utility class unless the industry reforms itself. This would follow such action as military intervention in Oklahoma and Texas to curtail production and boost prices.

Urges Unification

Unification of operation of oil pools is the most practical step for the industry to take in the line of reform, Pew said. This, in his opinion, would decrease the number of wells and cut expenses of production.

As the delegates attended to matters of organization and held discussions on gas tax evasion and the unit plan of operation, it was said Pew of Philadelphia would probably be selected president of the institute. Pew has previously served in this post. The present institute head is E. B. Reeser of New York.

Nominations Made

Nominations, tantamount to election, were made for various groups on the institute's board of counsellors. Those nominated who did not serve during the last year included:

Production—H. V. Foster, Bartlesville, Okla.; Charles Roser, Los Angeles; Frank Phillips, Bartlesville, Okla.; W. C. McDuffie, Los Angeles; B. B. Brooks, Casper, Wyo., and O. D. Donnell, Findley, O.

Manufacturing—R. D. Matthews of California.

Distribution—W. H. Ferguson, Denver.

Foreign Trade—Richard Airey, New York.

Group at Large—John H. Markham, Tulsa, and Thomas A. O'Donnell, Los Angeles.

Social Accomplishments.— Being able to talk about yourself to Mussolini.

Dreiser And Girl Must Stay Off Of Kentucky's Soil

Will Not Press Charges Against Novelist And Woman Unless They Return

(International News Service)

PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 11.—No attempt will be made to serve Theodore Dreiser, novelist, and Marie Pergain with warrants charging misconduct unless they return to the state, authorities said today.

Bell county grand jury yesterday returned warrants charging the author and Miss Pergain with misconduct during Dreiser's investigation of labor conditions in the Harlan coal fields.

Bond was fixed at $200 each. The offense, misdemeanor in this state, carries a fine of from $20 to $50 on conviction.

Dreiser issued a statement from Norfolk, Va., denying the charges, saying they were "impossible." The author charged the indictments were a frameup to fight probable exposures to be made by Dreiser's committee.

Schools Now Take Place Of Plants In Training Boys

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11—Enrollment in vocational industrial schools in Pennsylvania continues to grow according to an announcement today by Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent of Public Instruction.

The breaking down of the apprenticeship system in industry has made it necessary for many districts to expand their buildings and equipment to care for those who under former conditions had an opportunity for plant training within industry itself.

There are now but few plants in the Commonwealth where a boy can learn a trade. Since there will be a need for many first class mechanics in the future to take the place of those who are passing on, it becomes an increasingly important problem of the public schools to prepare young people to be first-class mechanics, Dr. Rule said.

Recent figures compiled in the Department of Public Instruction show enrollments for the school year 1930 as follows:

Part-time co-operative	975
Retail selling	162
Part-time apprenticeship	1401
All-day trade	10539
Evening mining	1129
Evening trade extension	6123
Continuation school	32807

These students are receiving instruction in thirty-six different trades, such as automotive, drafting, electricity, machinist, carpentry and printing.

ALUMINUM WORKERS ARE ENDANGERED BY POISON GAS FUMES

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Hundreds of workers were endangered and considerable damage was caused Tuesday when fire swept the stearic acid room of the Logans Ferry plant of the Aluminum Company of America, near here. The blaze was confined to one room.

Estimates of the loss were not immediately available.

No one was hurt in the blaze, which created such intense heat that between 60 and 80 windows in the plant were shattered.

Smoke ascending from the acid room, where 10 or 12 bags of acid, each containing 200 pounds, were stored, warned workers of the fire and they fled from the one-story brick building.

It was at the Logans Ferry plant that eight workmen were killed in an explosion two pears ago.

Explains How Diet Affects One's Teeth

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The idea has been drummed into our heads so long that good teeth are due to one thing only—keeping the teeth clean—that the recent researchers on the subject are completely upsetting.

Yet the fact seems to be that filth and germs, as causes of decay, are secondary. The actual undermining of the teeth is caused by faulty nutrition, due to a bad diet.

If a dentist takes a tooth and polishes the surface as thoroughly as he can, polishes it until it shines, until it seems to you the smoothest thing in the world, and then if you put that enamel surface under a low power microscope, it looks like a rough, worn piece of asphalt or cement than the smooth surface you expect to see. Now the microscope you use need not be very powerful—not sufficient to see any germs at all. The germs are far too small to be seen in the magnification of which I speak. Millions of them could be lost in the crevices of any one of the roughenings on the surface of the tooth. And no amount of brushing could keep these surfaces permanently free from germs. Yet, of course, according to our old teachings, it is the germs which get into cavities and make the decay.

The question, then, of keeping the teeth clean and free from germs in order to prevent decay is hopeless. It is necessary to keep the teeth as clean as possible; this is not a preachment against brushing the teeth with a good dentifrice.

But the factor that keeps the germs out is of another kind—it is due to bodily resistance. It is established by proper diet, which determines the hardiness of the denture and enamel.

The diet usually advocated for this is as follows:

1. One or two eggs a day. For the expectant mother who is notably liable to tooth decay during that period, and for the growing child, two eggs a day.

2. The juice of one-half a lemon and one-half pint of orange juice once a day. It seems to me this amount of orange juice is excessive, but I am giving the recommendations of investigators. It seems, however, to be the vitamin C which is needed by teeth, and these fruits are abundant in it.

3. From one-fourth to one-half head of lettuce. Lettuce is especially rich in mineral salts needed by the teeth.

4. Two different vegetables once a day.

5. From eight to thirty-two ounces of milk a day. That is from one to four glasses.

6. Fruits other than lemons and oranges.

7. Meat once or twice a day.

This diet is designed not only to prevent dental troubles, especially in growing children, but when pushed to the limit of the largest amounts of the foods listed, to aid already established cases of pyorrhoea and trench mouth.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS..

V. R. H.: "I have small lumps on my eyelids, about half as large as a bean. They grow gradualy, and when they are so big they gather and break. They are very sore. What are they, and what should be done?"

Answer: From the description these might be styes or wrens of xanthelesma. If styes, you possibly need glasses or an antiseptic ointment. If the others, early removal, before they get to the troublesome stage. In any case, a doctor should be consulted.

A. D. I.: "Is it possible for a person to have thyroid symptoms without enlargement of the thyroid gland?"

Answer: Yes.

Mrs. L. B.: "Is smoking injurious to an expectant mother?"

Answer: No harm has been proved to come from smocking during the period of pregnancy, either to mother or child.

Distribution Will Be Made At Rainbow Of Helpfulness, Thursday And Friday

Distribution of 300 bushels of apples at the "Rainbow of Helpfulness," South Jefferson street, to the needy families of the city will take place Thursday and Friday of this week.

The distribution of these apples is made possible through the cooperation of the mayor's relief committee, City Rescue Mission and the Salvation Army. J. K. McQuiddy, representative of the Trades and Labor assembly and Building Trades council on the mayor's relief committee, will have charge of the distribution of the apples and will be assisted by a group of men from the labor organizations of the city.

FIVE-DAY WEEK SIX-HOUR DAY PLAN PROPOSED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 11.—Council's finance committee will meet Thursday morning to discuss a plan of placing all city workers on a six-hour day and a five-day week, and of giving all police and firemen an additional day off each week, to make jobs for 25 more men in each department.

The suggestion of rotating the jobs was made at council meeting Monday night by Councilman Jerry Sullivan as one means of relieving unemployment without reducing salaries.

All councilmen and councilmen-elect, department heads and members of the board of control are to attend the meeting Thursday.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL TO WOMAN

WARREN, Pa., Nov. 11.—The body of Mrs. Phoebe Donovan, 83, who died in the Oil City hospital early Tuesday from injuries received in an auto crash near there Monday, was brought to her home here. Because of injuries rerceived by other members of the family, plans for the funeral have not been completed. She is survived by a son, Ben H. Donovan, retired president of the Pennsylvania Gas company, and Miss Edith Donovan of Erie. Four others hurt in the accident are still in the hospital, a son-in-law, William Frear of this city, being in a serious condition.

LOVED TO EAT, AND NOW SHE CAN!

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lillian Ralston have learned. This New York City business woman, who lives at 1160 Park Avenue, says:

"I suffered from headaches and heartburn after meals; couldn't sleep like I should; never felt right.

"For five years I experimented with medicines and treatments, until I learned about Pape's Diapepsin. I have used three packages now; have gained five pounds, and feel fine."

If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times, get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you need never worry again about what you eat.

Edison's Son Is Planning Fight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—William L. Edison was said to be somewhere in New York Tuesday conferring with his attorney on the first step to be taken in the fight he proposes to make against the will of his father, the late Thomas A. Edison, who left most of his $12,000,000 estate to Charles and Theodore M. Edison, his sons by a second marriage.

Edison left his home in Wilmington, Del., early this morning and his whereabouts were not given out by members of his family. Last night, however, after issuing a vitriolic statement on an article purported to be written by Thomas A. Edison, Jr., his step brother, in West Orange, N. J., Will announced his intention of coming to New York today to meet his sister, Marion Edison Osser and their attorney.

The article which roused Will Edison's ire was published yesterday.

Will Edison declared that Thomas could not have written the article unassisted. It was, he said, engineered by interests opposed to him in his proposed contest of his father's will. It said that Thomas Jr., would not contest his father's will.

Steel Ingot Output Continues To Climb

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—For the third consecutive week, steel ingot production has gained slightly, being estimated at 31 per cent of capacity, against 30 per cent last week, and 29 per cent the week before that, the weekly Iron Age summary reports today.

Against an average output of 27.76 per cent in October, this is declared to be the most consistent increase in steel activity since last spring. The review points out that while its importance could easily be exaggerated in view of the sluggishness of some branches of the industry, there is hope of further slight betterment during the remainder of the year, particularly in automobile tonnage, to be followed perhaps, by a sharper upturn in the first quarter of 1932.

Some improvements in business has come from farm implement manufacturers, warehouse distributors, the oil country and agricultural communities.

Although automobile orders for steel are improving, much of the steel hat will be needed for production of new models is still to be specified.

Pig iron business continues to expand at Chicago, where 15,000 to 20,000 tons of inquiry is pending, but elsewhere there is no noteworthy change. The Iron Age composite price for pig iron has declined to $14.96 from $15 last week, but steel scrap is slightly higher at $8.75 compared with $8.71 last week. Finished steel is unchanged at 2.116 cents a pound.

Local Man Held On False Arrest Charge On Theft

Diamond Ring Robbery During Child's Party Results In False Arrest, In Claim

Gust Economou, North Beaver was held in bail of $500 for the December term of county court on a charge of false imprisonment following a hearing last night before Alderman Richard R. Lewis of the Fifth ward.

The charge against Economou was preferred by George Davis, of 105 West Washington street, this city, and Greensburg, who charged false imprisonment as the result of his arrest in Greensburg October 20 on a charge of larceny of a $900 diamond ring from Economou.

Davis claimed that he was arrested; hailed before Squire Walton of Greensburg and released after he produced $500 bail for a hearing. He was arrested on an alias warrant which Economou had taken with him to Greensburg and had handed to a police officer.

The $500 which Davis produced was to insure his presence at a hearing before Alderman Marshall on November 5. When the time for the hearing arrived, the plaintiff, Economou, did not appear against Davis and Alderman Marshall quashed the case on account of insufficient evidence against Davis. Davis therefore swore to an information before Alderman Richards against Gust Economou.

Charles Economou, a cousin of Gust, and his wife, Coula Economou, of the same North Beaver street address, were subpoenaed as witnesses for the prosecution for the hearing last night. Charles Economou had once owned the ring, containing a one and a half carat diamond.

Mrs. Coula Economou testified that the ring was missed by Gust during a party at her home on her child's birthday. Gust had declared he said that his ring was missing, James Pulis, 405 Pearson street, was another witness in the case.

Night Coughing Quickly Stopped

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thoxine goes still further—it eliminates the internal cause which many times develops into serious illness.

A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes or money back. 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., Love & Megown Drug Co. and all other good drug stores.

Never parched, never toasted

CAMELS are FRESH in nature's own mild way!

EVERYONE knows now that Camels are the fresh cigarette.

If inquiry went deeper, it would reveal that Camels are the natural moisture cigarette.

That's important, because in handling fine tobaccos, when you process out natural moisture, you sacrifice freshness and flavor too.

Camel smokers needn't worry about that, because Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that are never subjected to violent processing. They need no parching or toasting to make them smooth, palatable, cool.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack is such a boon to Camel smokers—it preserves the freshness, flavor, natural moisture, fragrance that are in this fine cigarette to start with.

Camels are fresh in nature's own mild way, and if you want to see what that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

School Principal And Teachers To Battle Charges

Morgantown High School Principal And Two Teachers Face Grave Charge

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 11.—J. T. West, principal of the Morgantown high school, and Esther Williams and Blanche Garfield, teachers, will go on trial next week on statutory charges preferred as the result of "peeping" by three school janitors through small holes in the ceiling of the principal's private office, it was revealed today with publication of the trial list.

All three have been absent from school on leaves of absence since the beginning of the fall term. They have repeatedly charged that the charges were "framed" against innocent victims.

Senator M. M. Neely, of Fairmont, W. Va., will appear as attorney for the defense in what promises to be one of the most sensational trials in this district.

Suit To Collect Note Is On Trial

Non-Payment Of Note Given By Mehards To John W. Brothers Is Alleged

The case of Attorney Clyde V. Ailey, executor of the will of the late John W. Brothers, against W. H. Mehard and Alice Mehard, his wife, was taken up for trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand this morning.

It is claimed by the plaintiff that on October 22nd, 1927, the defendants borrowed $800 from John W. Brothers, giving a note for it. Verbally it was agreed that six per cent interest be paid, and one payment of $48 interest was made.

About March 19 1929 plaintiff claims that defendants secured possession of the note from Brothers, under a promise to pay a portion of it and the interest. It is claimed that nothing was paid, and that defendants failed to return the note.

John W. Brothers died on July 1st, 1929, and Attorney Clyde V. Ailey, who is trying to collect the note, was appointed as his executor.

"Mystery Woman" At Philadelphia Is Gravely Ill

Wealth Beyond Wildest Dreams Of Neighbors Uncovered In Miller Home

FIND UPWARDS OF $200,000

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA Nov. 11—Wealth beyond the wildest dreams of neighbors, to whom she was "the mystery woman" today was found by police in the 11 room mansion of Mrs. Annie Miller, 72 year old recluse who has been a neighborhood enigma for years.

Sole occupant of the one-time proud brownstone front home, Mrs. Miller was found unconscious by her janitor yesterday, suffering from an attack of diabetis. Surrounding her as she lay on the floor were 25 cats of all sizes and colors.

The aged woman was rushed to Hahnemann hospital where her condition today was said to be critical.

In the house, secreted in out of the way places and in articles of clothing, police found a quantity of currency and stocks and bonds valued at $200,000.

A document from the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company disclosed that the aged recluse had a yearly income of more than $40,000.

LIBERAL PARTY GOES THREE WAYS

Sir John Simon

David Lloyd George

Sir Herbert Samuel

Great Britain's Liberal party, once the most powerful in the land, today represents only a straggling few. David Lloyd George, war-time prime minister, leads only a handful of free traders—three members of his own family—in parliament. Sir Herbert Samuel, elected to leadership of the party, and home secretary in the new National cabinet, is at variance with Sir John Simon, leader of the so-called National Liberals, which stand for a tariff and other Conservative measures. Sir John Simon is foreign secretary in the new cabinet. Lloyd George has been eyeing Labor.

Damages Claimed For An Assault

Case Of Ametio Genock Against New Castle Electric Railway Co. On Trial

The New Castle Electric Street Railway company is defendant in a suit brought by Ametio Genock for $15,000 damages, which was taken up for trial before Judge James A. Chambers in court this morning.

In his testimony Genock, who is a barber, claimed that on the night of June 28, 1930, he was at Cascade park with a number of friends, and had been dancing.

He said that after he had come off the floor he was standing talking to several friends, when R. M. McDowell, a park policeman, grabbed him by the throat, lifted him off his feet and threw him down, rendering him unconscious. When he regained consciousness, he said that McDowell was standing over him, brandishing a blackjack.

According to the witness he had not been ordered off the dancing pavilian and had no words with McDowell, whom he did not know. He claims that as a result of the attack his neck was injured and that he was greatly humiliated. He also alleges that after the occurrence his business fell off in the barber shop where he was employed to such an extent that he lost his job, and had to go to another city before he found one. He operated a chair in the shop partly on a commission basis.

Plaintiff claims that the defendant company was negligent in employing a special officer with a highly nervous temperament, and one who did not exercise the discretion necessary for such a position.

One of the questions which has been raised in the suit is whether an employer is liable for punative damages, on account of the act of an employe.

The Parent Problem
by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Childhood Vocabulary Made Subject Of Study

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

A number of vocabularies of young children have been published, each word being recorded when it was first heard or at various intervals.

Dr. Arnold Gesell studied 50 babies 12 months old and 50 babies 18 months of age. He says: "The median 12-month-old child not only can say dada or mama, or its equivalent, but has mastered at least three or four distinguishable words which he articulates with much precision." The other words most popular were bye-bye and baby. At 18 months bye-bye, ta-ta, hello and how'do were most frequent. A study by M. E. Smith at the University of Iowa concludes that the words used most frequently up to and at the sixth year are: I, is, it, you, that, do, a, this, not, and the.

Many children have not begun to talk at one year and some have not at 18 months. Of the children studied, the average vocabularies are as follows:

At one year	7 words
At 18 months	71 words
At two years	328 words
At two and a half years	690 words
At three years	896 words
At three and a half years	1,222 words
At four years	1,540 words
At four and a half years	1,870 words
At five years	2,070 words
At five and a half years	2,289 words
At six years	2,562 words

(See Twenty-fifth Year Book of the National Society for the Study of Education, pp. 550-552.)

Since emotional expression is a large factor in the development of speech, words of exclamation are among the first. Nouns and verbs rank high in the first few years and adjectives develop earlier, as a rule, than adverbs.

Piaget, after careful and extensive observation of children from four to eight, concludes that the child tends to talk a great deal as if he were carrying on a monologue while with other children, rather than with the purpose of communicating what he has to say to other children, and that the social phase of speech develops relatively late—more evidence that speech is principally an emotional matter and a means of self-expression.

On the other hand, the child, even at three or four, when mingling with us parents, does talk to us and is often very much annoyed when we do not look at him then and listen courteously and attentively. Moreover, children learn to carry on conversation with one another even before entering school if they spend much of their waking hours in free play with others of their age.

Language becomes a social matter in proportion to the growth of social interests and social contacts among those of the same age and in proportion, furthermore, as old persons understand and treat courteously and sympathetically the child from his earliest years.

NEEDY MAY GET FREE FUEL FROM STATE FORESTS

Those Who Need Wood May Obtain Cutting Permits

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Free fuelwood from the State forests of Pennsylvania is available for the relief of distress among the unemployed, according to a statement issued today by Lewis E. Staley, secretary of the department of forests and Waters. State forest officers have been authorized to issue free cutting permits in the state forests to the needy who cannot afford to buy their winter fuel.

Welfare and charitable organizations engaged in helping families during the present unemployment crisis can supply the homes of the needy by getting in touch with local district foresters and arranging for fuelwood cutting by qualified persons.

The Department already has made free wood available at the site of the Pymatuning dam where considerable clearing work is under progress. The present system will affect all localities where there are state forests.

Forestry officials estimate that in the one and one-half million acres of Pennsylvania State Forests there are 50,000 cords of wood available in the form of dead and fallen timbers, and, if this amount is insufficient to supply the homes of the needy with fuel, 50,000 additional cords can be released with no defriment to the remaining timber stand.

Secretary Staley announced that wood to be provided for fuel under this plan consists of blight killed chestnut and diseased and fire killed timber. This material includes both standing and fallen, dead and damaged trees, which will make excellent fuel. Special areas, easily accessible for transporting the cordwood, will be set aside in the State Forests where cutting will be done under the supervision of State Forest officers.

No cutting may be done without a permit, and the sale or exchange of fuelwood for services or commodities will be prohibited. Fuelwood may not be cut for use in commercial enterprises, such as stores, hotels, and roadside stands. The quantity of material removed must be limited to the amount actually required by a family or families to whom permits are issued. The action of the Department of Forests and Waters insures sufficient cordwood to take care of 10,000 Pennsylvania homes during the present winter.

'Four Hundred' Figures

Social Leaders Of New York And Nation As Seen By Ethelda Bedford, New Castle News Staff Writer

MRS. HOWARD PHIPPS

By ETHELDA BEDFORD

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Gotham society has no more talented and sociable member than Mrs. Howard Phipps—and certainly it has none more firmly rooted in its ranks.

While Mrs. Phipps is one of the new matrons she is a favorite of both the debutante and the younger married circles. You see her one afternoon at a debutante tea—and the next playing backgammon at the old Colony Club, of which she is a member. She is an active member, too, of the Junior League.

Only recently this gracious daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Price, of Park Avenue, became the bride of Mr. Phipps. And, maybe you don't think their engagement and marriage, which followed only a few weeks later, didn't cause lots of chatting over the teacups!

Quite a "Catch"

The news that the name of "Howard Phipps"—one of Manhattan's wealthiest and most eligible—was to be removed from the list of the supposed confirmed bachelors came as a great surprise.

While Mrs. Phipps enjoyed several seasons as Miss Harriet Dyer Price she had shown much interest in social work and club activities. She has many talents, and her friends expected her to go in for a career at any time. Then her engagement was announced—and to the son of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in all New York!

Mrs. Phipps is 30—and her husband is 20 years her senior.

She is tall, slim, graceful and goes in for simplicity both in attire and manner. Her wedding—which took place in the beautiful drawing room of her parents' Park avenue residence—included only close friends and relatives, and was particularly effective because of its noticeable lack of frills.

Daughter of Cotton King

The career of Mrs. Phipps' father is known as one of the most thrilling and colorful in all Wall Street. He once was known as "the cotton king." He made millions and lost them, made them again. She is very fond of her father and never tires of his colorful stories, of his failures and triumphs.

She is a niece, on her father's side, of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Price, whose names come high on the list of the "right people." The Dyers originally hail from Virginia.

Her mother, the former Harriet Eugenia Dyer, is the daughter of the late General Alexander B. Dyer, U. S. A., who was chief of ordinance during the Civil war.

Mrs. Phipps has much in common with her husband, other than millionaire ancestors. They both like sports and belong to numerous clubs. They are particularly fond of polo. (Mr. Phipps' nephews include those two well-known polo players, Raymond and Winston Guest.)

Mrs. Howard Phipps

Next: Mrs. Alexander Hamilton.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stone of this place entertained a group of relatives in their home, Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Crawford, a bride and groom of recent date. The bride will be remembered as Freda Owens.

The evening was spent in a social manner with games and music as the chief diversions.

There were more men than usual in the group Tuesday evening and intense interest is being manifested in the winter's course, with almost every church denomination in the city represented Tuesday evening.

Next Tuesday the old testament subject will be "The Work of Deborah, Gideon and Samuel" and the new testament, "Jesus and Peace" with "Internationalism" taken up.

Many Contacts Are Being Made By "Y" Institute

New Friendly Service Department Launched At Local Y. W. C. A.

Some conception of the part the International Institute of the Y. W. C. A. plays in the community can be secured from figures showing the number of contacts the Institute has regularly. These are as follows:

American, 59; Armenian, 9; Croation, 6; Finnish, 1; German, 25; Greek, 70; Hungarian, 17; Italian, 330; Jewish, 37; Lithuanian, 1; Polish, 620; Rumanian, 10; Serv, 4; Slav, 80; Swedish, 1; Syrian, 37; Russian, 20, and Ukranian, 17.

That totals 19 nationalities and 1353 personal contacts through clubs, English and sewing classes, consultations, employment, interpreting and naturalization cases.

Miss Emma Moore, executive of the Institute, is now giving half time to the International Institute and half to a new friendly service department which includes an employment bureau for business girls as well as those seeking housework and other positions. It includes friendly service to any girl traveling alone or who, on account of this time of depression finds herself in any kind of special need. The Y. W. C. A. is the only place a girl can get a room if she does not have the money to pay for it.

The International Institute just recently moved it's headquarters to the Central "Y" and is carrying on it's work just as it has for years on Pennsylvania avenue.

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 11.—Six men were injured, two critically, in an explosion of a gas well near Cannellville, caused by the backfiring of a motor. The well caught fire.

The well is one of the largest in Cannellvill field. The blaze leaped high and attempts to extinguish it were unsuccessful.

The two most seriously injured, George Wagner and John Harrington, were rushed to a hospital here. Hospital attaches said they had not determined full extent of their injuries.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—All fete days in New York—Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving, the Fourth of July and Election day—have a "run". Which is to say, they are each celebrated for days afterwards. There is a grotesque stuffed dummy strung on a wire over the middle of East Forty-fifth street which may have been put there in honor of Hallowe'en, Election day or in anticipation of Thanksgiving. It's hard to tell.

Bonfires, always a favorite with the younger patriots, are still giving firemen trouble in the tenement neighborhoods. These, I gather, are in honor of the recent election. Last night one of the cross-town streets of the old Hell's Kitchen district witnessed a succession of huge packing-box conflagrations which were doused by patient firemen who simply turned on their hoses with a sigh, knowing well that harsh words would gain nothing.

As soon as a blazing pile had been drenched to smoking embers, the urchins and gamins of the neighborhood would set about the construction of another heap further down the street, or in the next block. It is amazing how many varieties of kindling and even oak logs can be found in mid-Manhattan when bonfires are buildings.

Last night there was a minor commotion in an Eleventh avenue undertaking establishment over the disappearance of a handsome beechwood casket. Later, a block away, a large bonfire flared dangerously to a large, applauding galiery.

A dummy strung on a wire over the middle of East 45th street which may have been put there in honor of Hallowe'en, election day or anticipation of Thanksgiving.

"What're you celebratin?" this reporter inquired of a youngster in a roll-neck sweater.

"Al Smit," he flung back.

"Humph!" a young lady with soiled blonde curls interjected, "Al Smit ain't runnin' until 1932."

"All right. He won in 1932, then."

IN HONOR OF EVERYBODY

The Central Park gate naming committee, if there is any such body, probably passed a motion of rejoicing that there were 17 gates to be named. A recent circuit of the park suggests that the namers had some difficulty thinking up enough classes of people to name gates after.

There is a scholars' gate, a merchants' gate, a farmers' and warriors' gate—and down the line gates named in honor of artists, artisans, women, hunters, mariners, All-Saints, boys, children, miners, engineers, woodmen, girls, pioneers and strangers.

There is no racketeers' gate, however.

Mayor's Relief Committee Will Receive Offering

It is to be hoped that the residents of New Castle attend the union Thanksgiving services in the cathedral November 26 at 10 a. m. in large numbers for it has been announced by the Ministerial Association, which is sponsoring this annual service, that all offering received Thanksgiving morning will be turned over to the Mayor's Relief committee.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, made this suggestion at the Ministerial meeting this week and it was unanimously decidede that no better use could be found for the offering lifted.

LEGION OF HONOR TO MEET THURSDAY

Members of the Legion of Honor of the New Castle Consistory will hold their regular meeting in their rooms in the Cathedral Thursday evening.

The post regularly meets on the second and fourth Wednesdays, but owing to the fact that the meeting fell on Armistice Day, it was postponed until Thursday.

Several important matters will come up for discussion and Commander W. J. Chapman desires a full attendance of the membership on this occasion.

ARMISTICE DAY FOR THIS COUPLE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 11.—It was Armistice Day 11 years ago when Mrs. Hazel L. Speer, Wilkinsburg musician and piano teacher, married Edison C. Speer, also of Wilkinsburg, but that didn't prevent domestic warfare, she testified in her suit for divorce. She testified that he beat her on two occasions, began staying out late at nights the last two years of their married life and left her in August, 1930. Judge W. H. McNaugher declared a permanent armistice between Speer and his wife yesterday, granting her a divorce.

EASIEST WAY TO BREAK UP A COLD

Millions Say of This Proved Way

Works Fast—Makes You Feel Like a New Person Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets every three hours. Drink lots of water between times—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

The Methodist Episcopal church as an institution has played a part in the history of what is now Lawrence county for more than a hundred and twenty-five years. The first Methodist class organized in this district, as near as can be definitely determined, is that still known today as King's Chapel and located about three miles north of this city. In 1804, William Richards a member and licensed exhorter of the Methodist Episcipal church moved his family from Center county, Pa., and settled them on a farm near King's chapel. He commenced holding religious servics in his own home. In a short time, a class was formed composed of William Richards and wife, Robert Simonton and wife, Arthur Chenowith and wife, Mary Ray, Rachel Fisher, John Burns and wife, Michael Carman and wife, William Underwood and wife, Philip Painter and wife and Rebecca Carroll. William Richards was its first leader. At that time there were two circuits in what is now the Erie Conference—Erie and Shenengo. The former had a membership of 349 and the latter of 206, making a total membership of 555. The first class organized within what now comprises the Erie Conference, was the one at Roberts or Leach Settlement in Mercer county, by Jacob Gurwell and Thomas McClelland in 1798, with Robert R. Roberts as the class leader. The itinerant ministers were first introduced in these districts in 1800. The King's Chapel class was one of the earlier of the classes that followed the establishment of that mentioned in Mercer county.

Ellwood Prepares For Invasion Of Rochester High

Hard Workouts To Be Held In Preparation For Annual Battle

Valley Team Has Proved To Be "Jinx" For Ellwood Elevens

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11—Still in high hopes that its losing streak will break, the Ellwood High gridders have set about preparing themselves for their annual clash with Coach Ed Taylor's eleven of Rochester on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The game will be played on the Rochester field.

The locals for some unexplained reason are unsuccessful against Rochester elevens as a whole. Out of the great number of years that the two schools have been having grid relations Ellwood has only three victories to its credit. Some of the best of Ellwood machines have fallen to this foe. Regardless of past records of either team, a good game is always assured.

Coaches Gills and Lloyd know of this fact and are doing everything in their power to provide a better offense and defense against the Rochester eleven. Ellwood is again working out on a pass defense to use against Taylor's proteges, who resort to the aerial game, when the going is against them. Against Midland, Zanieski threw 32 passes, completing 15. A light workout with a signal drill and work on new plays took place on Monday. A scrimmage session featured yesterday's work out. This was followed by a signal drill. The varsity is daily improving in its offensive power and is expected to cause some real trouble to the Rochester boys. Bobby Kennedy, quarter back and "Spungo" Vanderillo, half back were absent from Tuesday session. The former has a badly swollen leg and the latter has a bruised head as a result of the New Brighton game last Saturday. Both are expected to report Thursday, when they will be required to go through a strenuous program as a result of their Armistice Day vacation.

The locals were more impressive against Monaca and New Brighton than Rochester was, but the situation is reversed against Aliquippa, Midland and Beaver Falls. Three lettermen form the nucleus of the Taylor eleven.

Agreement Reached On Central School

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—A final and satisfactory agreement on the Central school building proposition was reached by the board of education with the city at its regular meeting last night in the high school.

The school will belong to the city after December 1 and it will be very much needed for school purposes. A satisfactory rental fee per month has been reached and the school district will continue to use it. The district will look after the maintenance of the building and the borough will handle the insurance end.

Celebration Given Start Last Night

Over 500 March In Parade; 40 And 8 Has "The Wreck" In Columbus Hall

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.— The great Armistice Day Celebration in Ellwood City got a fitting start last night as over 500 men marched in a parade through the principal streets of the city to inform the populace to expect something bigger and better on the morrow.

The local Bugle and Drum Corps in their flashy uniforms lead the parade, followed by the valley branches of the 40 and 8 in their hilarious costumes. This group by their antics caused much merriment about the town. The streets traversed were decorated with flags and the store fronts held pictures of the war, machine guns and other weapons, helmets, and "Welcome Buddy" signs.

The parade broke up at the Sons of Columbus Hall where the 40 and 8 held their "The Wreck," which is a form of initiation. There were near 500 people present at this celebration. A fine program of songs and music had been arranged for. The feature of the affair was an address by George T. Prosel, state commander, who was a special guest at the time.

The judges viewed the parade today from a stand erected for this purpose on Sixth street and Lawrence avenue. The Legion Memorial Tablet on the Central School lawn has been cleaned and shined up for today.

The local post is doing everything within its power to assure the comfort and entertainment of Ellwood's thousands of guests. Every possible protection has been provided. A first aid tent has been pitched on the Central school lawn for those needing this attention today. Two nurses and a doctor will be in attendance all day. Twenty-five additional men have been added to the police department to aid in the traffic work and guard parked machines.

Juniors Enjoy Fine Class Party

Good Crowd Present In Lincoln Gym At Annual Event Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—A splendid party was enjoyed by the members of the junior class last night in the Lincoln gym with a fine attendance featuring. The seniors on the football team were special guests at the time.

The gym had been cleverly decorated with the class colors and streamers. Several flags were hanging about in view of Armistice Day. Dancing and cards were the attractions of the evening. As a result of an elimination contest Miss Catherine Wilson and Thomas Barnes were compelled to do a novelty number on the dance floor. A hearty applause and two flowers rewarded their efforts. The music was furnished by an orchestra from Westminster College.

James Binney is the sponsor of the junior A class and Miss Mary Elizabeth Braham of the junior B. Miss Norma McNeil was chairman of the entertainment committee; Miss Catherine Wilson and Miss Helen Newton were in charge of the decorations; refreshments, Jean Hunter and Mildred Hall.

Kiwanis Hear Talk On Education Last Night At Meeting

Enjoy Peppy Armistice Program Later Under Direction Of Charles Carbeau

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—J. Ellis Bell, principal of the local high school, addressed the members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly meeting in the Trinity Lutheran church Tuesday evening. His subject was "National Education Week".

Mr. Bell gave thoroughly the meaning and purpose of education and stated why one week should be set aside for the observance of it. He pointed out the expensiveness of ignorance and in a few well chosen words gave the value of education.

John Preston of the high school faculty and local soloist, rendered two numbers, "Pal O' Mine" and "There Is No Death". Then Dr. B. M. Lawther, chairman of the Armistice Day celebration here, told the club of the local Legion's plans for today and asked their co-operation. Miss Rosemary McCandless recited "In Flanders Fields" and Miss Charlotte Richter gave "America's Answer". The remainder of the time was enjoyed in singing wartime songs.

Business Discussed At Board Meeting

Members Of Board Meet At School On Tuesday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Upon request by the local American Legion the members of the Board of Education decided last night to attend the mammoth Armistice Day Celebration here today in a body. Also the request of Borough Manager, Lowell W. Monroe, to have the Central School Building open today for rest room purposes, was granted by the board.

Some comments were made on the scheduled Ellwood-New Castle game for next season at the meeting. Most of the members do not seem to favor the plan. No definite action was taken.

A discussion took place on the merits of school banking which had been discontinued in the local school system because of the closing of the Citizens National Bank. The funds in the bank will be held up for a while but will later be refunded, the board assurred all school children. In the meantime the board hopes to find a suitable plan to continue school banking. Announcements on the matter will be made later.

The monthly report of the superintendent showed that the total enrollment for the month of October was 3821 and uthe percentage of attendance was 97.

Superintendent Smith passed out to the board members a copy of his careful survey of the Ellwood City Schools. The survey in a booklet form gives the history of Ellwood City and the organization of the school system here.

A favorable report was given on Mrs. Young's Home Group Classes in which there is a total enrollment of 69 and has 13 classes. The classes are for the purposes of educating foreign born people in the community and aid them in acquiring citizenship papers.

WOMAN'S CLUB SPONSORS FUND

Local Woman Will Represent New Castle At Paris Conference If Funds Are Raised

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.— A program doubly interesting was heard by fifty members of the Women's Club at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Elk's Club.

Mrs. Adele Eggers Furniss entertained the gathering with two groups of vocal selections, one on Armistice Day and the other on Thanksgiving. She was accompanied by Mrs. Mervin Haines on the piano. The songs were well received. A short business meeting had preceded this with routine matters being transacted.

The speaker of the day was Mrs. William Cosel who spoke on the subject of "The World Peace Movement," which was in keeping with Armistice Day. Mrs. Cosel in a most efficient manner gave the history of the peace movement at the close of the war and of its rapid rise through Europe and America. The address was very instructive and entertaining.

A 1 o'clock tureen dinner had inaugurated the events of the day with covers being laid for 50. This had taken the place of the usual dinner and proved to be a fine success. The club resolved to have more in the future. Mrs. Richard Hawke was in charge of arrangements here, and was assisted by Mrs. Bert Wallis, Mrs. Clifford Swick, Mrs. George Ely, Mrs. Carl McClymonds, and Mrs. Mervin Haines. Mrs. J. W. Humphrey, the president of the club presided at the meeting.

The hostesses for the day were the Mesdames Sharp Jackson, F. E. Moore, C. M. Iseman, Arthur M. Stevenson, and H. R. Smith.

The next meeting will be held on December 8 at which time Mrs. R. Frederick Roberts will speak on the subject of "Adventuring in the Old World."

Townships Ask An Extension Of Time On School Accounts

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—An appeal from different townships in this district, to give them an extension of time and a release of the 6 percent interest on the money owed to the local school district, was made in a communication to the Board of Education at its regular meeting last night in its rooms in the Lincoln School Building.

The reason given for the appeal was the closing of the Citizens National Bank where funds were deposited. It was revealed that Wayne Township's school teachers may not receive their pay for several months because of this situation. The board will further discuss this matter at their special meeting on December 1, when the departing members, T. C. Marshall, and J. A. Pearson will be tendered a turkey dinner. The year's business will be cleared up at this time before the new board members go into session.

Some glad tidings were received by the board members last night. It was reported that the emergency lighting system has been installed and has been in operation. There are yet some matters to adjust on this but it will soon be in proper working order. A man from the state department will be here to inspect it very shortly.

All invoices were approved and ordered to be paid by the board.

Schools To Observe Education Week

Local Schools To Have "Open House"; Operetta Will Be Feature Of Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—The local schools will fittingly observe "Education Week" here on Friday, Nov. 13. The day will be known as "Know Your School Day". All parents and adults are invited to attend the schools and observe the work of the students. All are urged to meet the principal and teachers and learn of their plans for your children. The interest shown at this time will encourage their progress.

The feature of the day will be the presentation of an operetta, "Let's Go Traveling", by the children of the elementary schools, for the public in the Lincoln auditorium. The music, health, oral expression and art departments of each school are responsible for the play. There will be no admission charged. Over 110 children will participate in the operetta.

Another interesting event at this time will be an address by Dr. L. H. Wagonhorst, director of teacher training, Slippery Rock State Teachers' College. Everyone is especially urged to hear Dr. Wagonhorst.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—On account of the chicken supper on Wednesday the Women's Missionary Society of the Trinity Lutheran church will hold their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Nov. 12, at the home of Arthur Dambaugh at 530 Hazel avenue. Mrs. Fred Wehman will be in charge of the devotions. Also Mrs. Clarence Hollerman, chairman of the apple butter committee, will make a report at this time. A good attendance is desired.

Mrs. Bessie Pitzer Is Hostess To N. E. W. Club Yesterday Afternoon

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Several local members of the N. E. W. club attended its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bessie Pitzer on Highland avenue, New Castle. Miss Myrtle Pitzer was a special guest on the occasion.

Bridge at two tables was the chief diversion of the day with the awards at the conclusion going to Mrs. Jack Dunlap of New Castle and Mrs. Edward Christley of Ellwood City.

At an appointed hour the hostess with the assistance of Mrs. W. Grayson Coates and Miss Maxine Pitzer served delightful refreshments.

The club will be the guest of Mrs. Sherman Weaver in New Castle in two weeks.

Night School Success Here

Director R. J. Hawke Makes Very Favorable Report To Board Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 11.—Ellwood City's first night school is a pronounced success, according to the report for the month of October by Director R. J. Hawke to the members of the board of education last night at their regular meeting in the Lincoln building.

The classes have a total enrollment of 155 of whom all but nine have paid their registration fee. Five instructors teach the various courses offered by the night sessions. Mr. Stewart is a substitute teacher who is a great aid to Mr. Hawke. Classes are held three nights a week from 7 to 9 o'clock and will continue for a period of 10 weeks from the date of its opening.

There are 56 students in the shorthand classes, 62 in the typing, 44 in business English, 33 in blueprint reading, 38 in shop mathematics and 61 in mechanical drawing. Six class rooms are used in the Lincoln school building and the average attendance has been 87 per cent. All students purchase their own books and supplies.

The attendance and attitude of all the students has been very satisfying, and Director Hawke feels that if this condition continues through this term and the next one, night school in Ellwood City will have established itself.

HANEY'S ON THE PUBLIC SQUARE

Armistice Day

TIE guns have ceased,
And again bright grasses grow
Where skylarks sing their matin song,
And legions proud, march no more
In bannered ranks along.

A MILLION dead in whited' row,
Phalanxed deep, both friend and foe,
The silent legions of eternal sleep
Dream on through sun and snow.
Bugle call and cannon's roar
Shall rouse no more from slumber deep
These silent ones who gave their all,
That we, the fruits of peace might reap.

THE fruits of peace!
The oxwain's creak,
The flash of bright plow share,
The scythe of peace and not of war
Garners the harvest there.

The skylark sings his vesper song,
The day of toil is done;
Home, and fireside, honest sleep,
'Til fading stars salute the sun!

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

Zachary Taylor
15. Victory At Buena Vista

OUTFLANKED BY SANTA ANNA'S MEXICANS, WHO OUTNUMBERED THEM FOUR TO ONE IN THE 2-DAY BATTLE AT BUENA VISTA (FEB. 22-23,1847), TAYLOR'S MEN FIRMLY STOOD THEIR GROUND. FINALLY, THE MEXICAN FLANKING PARTY, BADLY MAULED, WAS DRIVEN BACK TO THE MOUNTAIN.

THEN MASSING ALL HIS RESERVES, SANTA ANNA FLUNG THEM AGAINST THE AMERICAN CENTER. THE CHARGE WAS STOPPED BY A DELUGE OF "GRAPE" AND "CANISTER" FROM CAPTAIN BRAXTON BRAGG'S BATTERY.

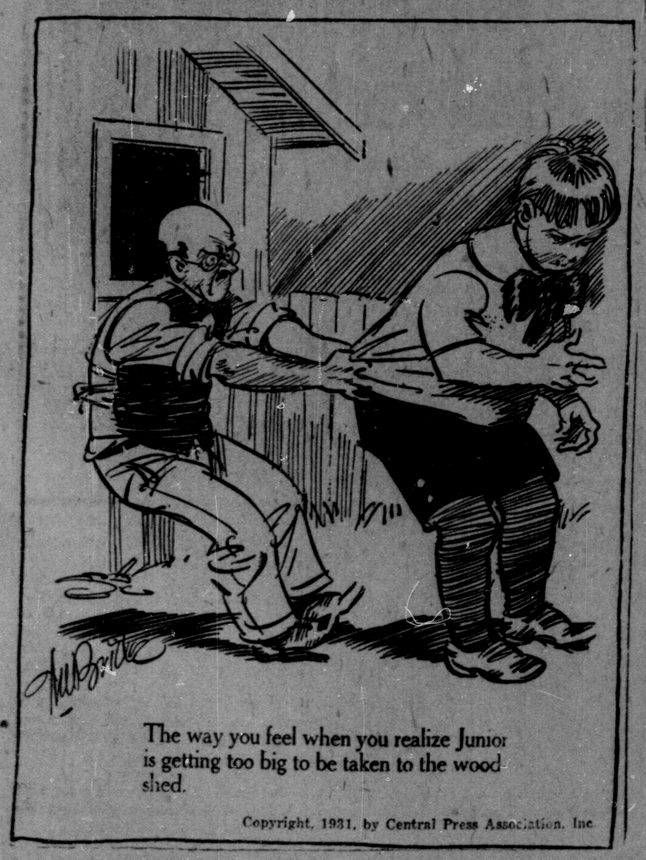

WHILE THE MEXICANS WAVERED, JEFFERSON DAVIS'S MISSISSIPPIANS CHARGED THEM ON THE FLANK. THE ENEMY'S LINES BENT, THEN BROKE, AND SANTA ANNA'S TROOPS FLED PELL-MELL, LEAVING HUNDREDS OF DEAD AND WOUNDED ON THE BATTLE-FIELD.

BUENA VISTA WAS A DECISIVE VICTORY FOR THE AMERICANS. SANTA ANNA HASTILY RETREATED TO MEXICO CITY, AND TAYLOR WAS LEFT UNDISTURBED IN NORTHEAST MEXICO.

Penn Coach Pays Tribute To Irish

Lawson Robertson, Coach Of Penn Athletes, Says Notre Dame Team Is Small

Are Real Good Fellows And Will Play Hard Football Or Will Frolic

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—"The Notre Dame Juggernaut, 1931 model is the most gosh awful thing I've ever looked at," declared Lawson Robertson, Coach of the University of Pennsylvania athletes, while stopping over here today en route to Philadelphia from South Bend where Penn was crushed on Saturday, 49 to 0, by Notre Dame.

"The first 40 or 45 of these Notre Dame birds they let you look at are little fellows, no more than about 6 feet 1 inch tall," continued Robertson. "The other 218 are really grown up and just one glance at that gang of civilized cave-men is enough to give any opposing squad a violent case of jitters.

With Nonchalance

"They play the game with more nonchalance than any bunch of athletes I have ever seen. There doesn't seem to be an uncontrolled nerve in the entire squad. They're always ready to fight, or frolic, as the case may be, always sure of themselves and when they get into motion, with frowns on their maps, it is a great time not to be opposed to them.

"But even in the tensest moments of the game they are not keyed up. There is no hysteria in the makeup of any of them. I'll tell you about one incident that happened last Saturday as proof that although they always are playing 100 per cent football they have elastic enough minds to extend them to spots beyond their own playing field.

End Is Tackled

"Tanseer, one of the Penn ends, grabbed a forward pass and then a Notre Dame bloke grabbed him and Tanseer hit the ground so hard that it was 10 minutes before anybody could convince him that it wasn't Mr. Chrysler's tower that fell on him. Well, just as soon as this Notre Dame fellow had downed Tanseer, he did the gallant thing and helped him to his feet and, as he was doing so, he commented cheerfully:

"'Say, that must be a wow of a game Northwestern and Minnesota are playing.'

"Tanseer, still groggy, wasn't sure that he heard right. So he asked: 'What did you say?' and this Notre Dame lad repeated his remark.

"'How do you know' demanded the woozy Tanseer. 'What is going on in that game anyway?'

Not All Business

"The Notre Dame buckeroo seemed very much surprised.

"'Say, kid' he demanded, what's the matter with your ears? Didn't you just hear them broadcasting around here? I've been getting the scores right along and they sure are interesting. Lots of good games today but that Northwestern-Minnesota is a wow.'

"That's the tipoff on those Notre Dame people. Playing the game with all they have, playing it every minute of the way, always alert, yet always relaxed; just a lot of nice young Goliaths mixing business with pleasure, or pleasure with the business of knocking opposition football players lopsided and sideways."

"It makes me very happy to know that I am too old to be called upon to play football again and face Notre Dame of 1931."

FOOTBALL SIDELINE STORIES

By Central Press.

A veteran coach whose contact with football dates 'way back in the days of the canvas backs, shinguards, flying wedges and bruising battles that were battles, ran across this one.

At Spearfish, S. D., normal school there was a backfield candidate with wonderful possibilities and but one handicap. He had a tendency to let his enthusiasm run away with him during a game, a failing that draws costly penalties for roughing.

The coach, having scolded the youth so often, decided not to discourage him too much, said to him on one occasion:

"Don't worry, kid. Some day you'll overcome your recklessness and develop into a real triple-threat man."

The unabashed back looked up and grinned.

"Heck, coach," he said. "I'm a triple-threat man right now. The other guys never know whether I'm going to bite, punch or kick.'

New Castle-South Prepare For Game

Ever Since 1927 Local Team Has Always Been Bitter Rivals Of Ohioans

South And New Castle Have Met Four Times—Headliner In Youngstown

For the fifth consecutive year, two of the football rivals in the district meet when the New Castle high machine opposes none other than Youngstown South, next Saturday afternoon at Youngstown. In Monday afternoon's workout at Taggart Stadium the local second team battled the Ben Franklin junior high eleven.

Fans from New Castle and Youngstown witnessed one of the most brutal games ever seen at Youngstown South's field in 1927, the initial battle between the teams. In a game replete with action, South won a 7-6 triumph. From then on New Castle and South turned against each other and have been real rivals since. In 1928, South wended its way to Franklin field (that was the local field's name then) and the locals administered the Ohioans a shellacking in the Thanksgiving Day classic.

Like in 1927 South again surprised by holding New Castle to a 6-6 tie in another thrilling contest at Youngstown. New Castle gridders were favored to win easily but for the second time in three years were fooled. The following year 1930, South again played at Taggart and returned home with another defeat on its shoulders, 27-12. This season New Castle goes back to Youngstown.

The locals have played Youngstown twice at South field and lost one and tied one. At home the locals have won both contests. It is possible that the Youngstown field is a jinx? South this season has another smooth eleven. Last Friday the Ohioans fought their way to a 6-6 tie with Salem high. Reports from Youngstown state that South is badly battered for the coming game. Tomlin, Baldwin and Humphrey in the backfield and Sinowski, are supposed to be on the casualty shelf.

This must be a "gag" of something. Every year New Castle is scheduled to play Youngstown, several of the players are supposed to be seriously injured. When the battle time arrives all the regulars are at the peak for the tilt.

The local red and black gridders came out of the McKeesport game in good condition. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will probably send his boys through a strenuous workout tonight. A victory over South is a big achievement is the way the local mentor looks at it. South considers a victory over New Castle a successful season.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Sporting Goods store on East Washington street.

Monaco Helps Coach Franklin

Swimming Instructor At Junior High Proves Good Grid Coach Too

William Monaco, new swimming instructor at the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school was a big help to the Franklin football team which only recently ended a successful season, winning the Inter-Class league championship. The Junior high team also failed to lose a game this season.

Mr. Monaco after completing his duties in school took to the gridiron field daily and assisted Coach Emmett Gillaspie. He trained and helped to coach the championship eleven. John Megee a member of the faculty arranged the schedule for this season. Mike Ross and Herbert Sines were the student managers of the team. The entire faculty and student bddy was behind the team was evident at the games which were packed with Franklin ardent followers.

The Franklin band under the direction of Miss Eva Coulter was on hand at every game but one and added pep to the gridders activities.

Grid Season Ends At Washington Hi

Regulars And Reserves Play Separate Games As Schedule Closes

George Washington junior high school brought its football season to a close last night when the first stringers played a team of alumni boys, defeated them 7-0, and the reserve squad fought a losing game with an east side amateur eleven. The reserves lost 7-0.

The Washingtonians won one game this year and lost four.

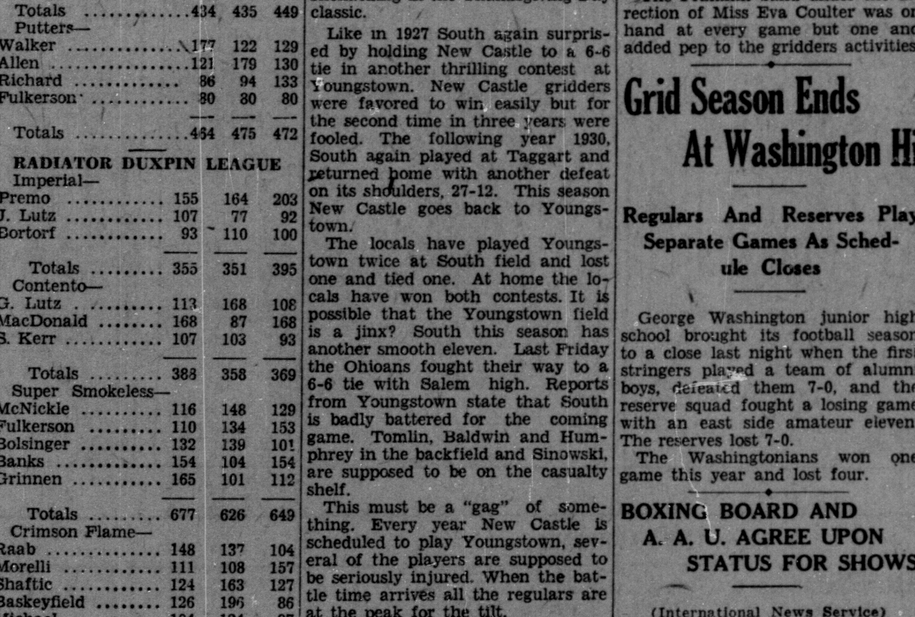

BOXING BOARD AND A. A. U. AGREE UPON STATUS FOR SHOWS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Following an armistice in their war for the control of amateur boxing in New York state, the Amateur Athletic Union and the State boxing commission had kissed and made up today, with the board granting a few concessions to the A. A. U.

The A. A. U. can name its own referees and judges at "Simon Pure" shows, but amateur boxing clubs which charge admission must pay the five per cent state tax.

When Washington Bit the Dust

Riding to a gain on the prostrate forms of his teammates and the opposing gridders who tried vainly to stop him, Cherberg, fullback of the University of Washington football team, is shown carrying the ball in the game against the University of California at Berkeley. While this play was as spectacular as the picture shows, it was the Washington pigskin warriors who eventually bit the dust in a 13 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Bears. Cherberg's interference seems to be doing nothing more than just that—making the going rather rough for him.

FIGHT RESULTS

(International News Service)

AT NEW YORK—Jimmy McNamara, New York lightweight, defeated Joe Glick, New York (8).

Johnny Gaito, Yonkers lightweight, defeated Jack Bernstein, New York (6).

AT READING, Pa.—Tony Falso, Philadelphia lightweight, defeated Bobby Burns, Baltimore (8).

AT BOSTON—Paul Swiderski, Syracuse heavyweight, and Joe Sekyra, Dayton, ordered from ring by referee, who said the boys were not trying (8).

LOUGHRAN CONFIDENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Tommy Loughran, here today to complete training for his bout with Paulino Uzcudun Friday night in Madison Square Garden, thinks he can knock out the Basque where Max Schmeling failed. The odds are 10 to 1 that he won't, but Tom is an 8 to 5 favorite to win on points.

Union And Bessemer Taper Off For Game

Rivals Will Tangle Saturday At Scotland Lane Field Hope For Good Weather

Union High Undefeated So Far This Year Will Fight Hard To Keep Slate Clean

Union High School football players are not resting much this week. Coach "Morg" Boyd intends to have his good looking Union team in tiptop shape for the gruelling battle with Bessemer at Scotland Lane on Saturday.

"There is no rest for a football team awaiting an important game, and this game Saturday looks like the toughest we have faced," said Coach Boyd to the writer today. Considerable work with the line will be done to get them back in midseason form. The Union line was somewhat weakened when Dec and Georgacz were taken to the backfield posts. The Union reserves were given stiff workouts Monday and Tuesday. The varsity has been perfecting signal play.

Fourteen Straight

The Union team has come through fourteen straight games without defeat and they are anxious to make it fifteen this week against the rivals from Bessemer. Bessemer has rested for two weeks while Union has taken on some pretty stiff competition in the past few weeks and only last Friday had a tough battle with Shenango high.

Both teams are evenly matched in weight. It will be the first time this year that Union has played a team its own size. Union won the game played last year and Bessemer is out for revenge.

Incidentally Bessemer is the only team that has defeated Union on the Scotland Lane field since Coach Boyd took charge, and that is another reason why he is anxious to atone. The Bessemer victory over Union here was in 1929, Boyd's first year as coach at Union.

The best Class B high school game in the county will take place Saturday and in event of good weather there will no doubt be a record crowd at Scotland Lane. Arrangements are being made by Faculty Manager Geigher to handle an overflow crowd. Bessemer will come well supported.

Geneva-Allegheny Game On Saturday At Meadville, Pa.

District Rivals Will Tangle Saturday At Montgomery Field, Meadville

BEAVER FALLS, Nov. 11.—Saturday is migration day for Geneva college students and all roads lead to Meadville where the Harpstermen will clash with "Maud" Crum's highly respected Allegheny Methodists. The game will determine the class B champions of the district and may be the last meeting between the schools for some time because of the recent policy to book games outside of western Pennsylvania.

Last year the Methodists came to Beaver Falls as a highly touted combination featuring Art Garbark. The Genevans stopped Garbark without trouble and went on to vanquish the visitors by a one-sided score. This season the Crum coached proteges are hoping for a reversal of the 1930 verdict.

The big ground gainer for the Methodists against Geneva a year ago was the rugged Nick Verano. He is still on hand and is the most feared member of the Allegheny lineup so far as the Genevans are concerned. Harpster and Lovewell are busily employed at this time in preparing a defense for Verano's line thrusts.

CAREY IS LOOKING FOR GOOD SOUTHPAW

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Max Carey, clad in fresh managerial raiment, said today that his Brooklyn Dodgers need to improve their southpaw pitching for 1932. He has several trades in mind but is not interested in obtaining Hack Wilson and Pat Malone from the Cubs.

Carey sounded a warning that no man on the Brooklyn team is sure of his job."

Football Has Appeal Like No Other Sport

Football Discussions Take Place Year-Round Whenever Sport Fans Get Together

Season Is Shortest Of Any Sport, But Draws Bigger Crowds And Pays Better

By EDDIE CASEY
Former All-American Half-Back And Now Head Football Coach At Harvard
Copyright, 1931, By International News Service

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 11.—Football is a game that can be and is talked about the year around. This statement might be taken to apply to the arguments about over-emphasis or the changes in its conduct, but the game itself is bound to be a subject of conversation wherever men interested in college athletics may gather.

Football poaches on basketball, baseball, crew and track even in their own seasons and produce more arguments about certain plays or games or players than any other sport one can name.

Football Has Appeal.

The reason for all this may seem hard to determine at first sight because the grid season is shorter than that of any other sport on the calendar and it is played by relatively few of the college men in the intercollegiate side of the game. While several reasons may be given for the universal and perpetual appeal of football one appeal is to the man who has played it a lot or who has coached the game.

Football is so closely balanced between offense and defense that it is very much like a game of chess. Yet even this comparison is faulty because one false move in chess means the loss of the game and the expert has the novice at his mercy. In football, one team may make several mistakes and still win the game. Moreover, the experienced player is often beaten by a greenhorn.

Football is evenly balanced because for the past 25 years the rules committee have been very carefully seeking to ring about just such a balance and they now feel that they have succeeded. That is the reason that they recodified the rules last year.

Played For Breaks.

Just to point out a few instances of this balance in the game, we can look at football through the eyes of the coach or the quarterback. Ten or fifteen years ago, the possession of the ball was not considered a great asset and teams were coached to play defensive football keeping the other fellow from gaining, forcing him to kick and then trying to score. Teams were taught to look for one big break that was sure to come in every big game, when that break came they would summon all their force and strategy to crash through for the one score that usually meant victory.

Today all that is past. Either team may win or lose possession of the ball several times in their biggest game. Last year, Yale and Harvard intercepted forward passes from one another at midfield within three minutes of play. Such a break was all that the pre-war coach prayed for. Today it is merely part of the game. One team may be scored upon several times and come back to win. In other words, there is balance between the team with the ball and that without, but this balance means that neither team is likely to score at any time and not that the game is likely to result in a scoreless tie.

Franklin Girls Have Initiation

Membership Of Ben Franklin Girl Reserve Club Meets Monday Evening

One of the very outstanding Girl Reserve activities of the season was the recognition ceremony staged by the Benjamin Franklin Girl Reserve Club last night. The ceremony, in which a large number of new members were initiated, took place at about 7:30 at the Y. W. C. A.

As the Benjamin Franklin Club, with its membership of 270 girls, is the largest in New Castle and as it made a great record during a membership drive held a short time ago, last night's event was of unusual importance. It was perhaps the largest recognition service ever held by New Castle Girl Reserves.

The regulation Girl Reserve outfits of blue and white were worn and the new members were recognized by the candle service. Music, addresses, etc., appropriate to the occasion featured the evening.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—John Snyder, of New Castle, and Lewis Goodman, of Sharon, today were under indictment by the federal grand jury for violation of the national motor vehicle theft act.

In the true bill returned by the jury, they were alleged to have transported a stolen automobile in interstate commerce and from Ohio to Pennsylvania.

Neglected Girl Put In Hospital

Society Temporarily Adopts Edith Riley, 13, Neglected By Her Parents

YOUNG BOY PLACED WITH HIS AUNT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Society temporarily adopted today little Edith Riley, 13-year-old victim of one of the worst cases of child neglect the authorities have ever encountered.

Of wavering mentality, the child was rescued a few days ago from a dark closet in her parents' home, where it is alleged she had been imprisoned for several years.

Judge Kathryn Sellers, juvenile court, held an impromptu session in the childrens' ward of Gallinger Hospital this morning, and ordered the child committed to the Child Welfare Board for six months, pending the outcome of criminal cruelty charges against the father and stepmother.

Placed in Hospital

The hospital will be the child's home for an indefinite period.

Francis Riley, Edith's 15-year-old brother, whose story resulted in the rescue of the child, was committed to the care of an aunt for the same period.

Judge Sellers placed Francis in the care of his aunt after the boy had appealed to her to "send me anywhere but back home."

Bertrand Emerson, the defense counsel, strongly objected to the boy being placed with the aunt on the grounds he would be subject to "influence antagonistic toward his father and step-mother."

Williamson formerly was vice president of the Northern Pacific.

BLAMES SIR 'ERBERT FOR ENGLAND'S COLD

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A London cockney has blamed Sir Hubert Wilkins' recent submarine trip to the North Polar regions for the coldest weather Great Britain recently experienced in five years.

"Some time ago," he said a bloke named Sir 'Erbert Wilkinson or some such name, took a submarine to the North Pole. He disturbed the ice so much around the Pole that it's come nearer England, an' the cold air from the ice is blowing over England. I'm sure that bloke is the cause of it."

When asked why he was so sure, he replied:

"Well, the newspapers some ye're ago blamed an iceberg that was straying in the Atlantic for a cold spell we 'ad, so there must be come ice near England, now that that bloke as 'is submarine mucked about with."

Sharon's Armistice Day Celebration Saddened By Death Of Veteran

(International News Service)

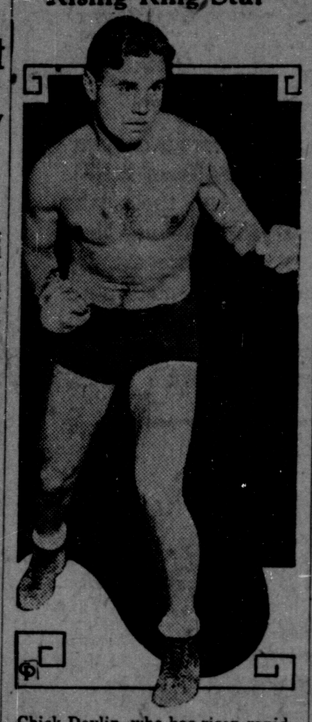

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 11.—Armistice day was saddened for thousands of local ex-service men, staging their most extensive celebration since 1918, when one of their "buddies," Joseph Malcolmson, 45, died today from the effects of a wound received in the World war.

Malcolmson spent two years with American troops in Europe and participated in almost all of the major offensives.

At the time of his death he was employment agent for the American Steel and Wire company here.

LATROBE, Pa., Nov. 11—Collecting a coal bill on Sunday ended disastrously for two Latrobe men John Porgorski and Joe Kosker.

They were thrown out of the house by the debtor, Frank Corey, it is charged.

Both bill collectors were held for court under $500 bond each when they allegedly retailiated by beating Corey.

MAN'S PLACE IN THE HOME

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Boys at the Hawthorne junior high school are being taught that "man's place is in the home."

Miss Ethel V. Antes, their instructor, said:

"It is just as important for a boy to be trained in home duties as a girl. Last week I taught my 60 boys to make griddle cakes. This week they will learn how to make biscuits. "Eventually, we're going to have a class in ironing, too. There is no reason why these boys when they become husbands should expect their wives to press their pants and neckties."

McKEESPORT, Pa., Nov. 10.—His remarks on a ham sandwich offered him will give Frank Cassin, unemployed plumber, a chance to sample prison fare for 30 days unless he is able to pay a $25 fine.

Grove City To Play Bethany

Coach Charley Berry Prepares Grove City College Team For Bethany Game

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 11.—Grove City's abbreviated list of ablebodied football men was further reduced today when George Foti, two-year veteran, was unable to resume practice with the squad. Foti suffered a serious knee injury Saturday in the Carroll game, and although he was treated at once by Cleveland physicians, it is now thought that he will be unable to play for the balance of the season.

This makes the fourth Crimson regular to be forced out of action this year. Ralph Day, backfield ace, was hurt before the season opened, and Bill Bache, center, and Ted Cuthbertson, tackle, were casualties early in the campaign. Foti's injury will leave Coach Berry with only two experienced guards, Rosequist and Critchfield. With only two games yet to play, it is thought that the squad has a good chance to defeat Bethany and Thiel, even with stars out of action.

Light work was started today in preparation for the Bethany game next Saturday. The squad came out of the Carroll game with many bruises, but without serious injuries excepting in the case of Foti and Johnny Tomko, end, who sustained severe body bruises. Coach Berry plans to take it easy this week, for the Grovers have gone through a strenuous campaign. At the same time Berry is not holding Bethany lightly and will give the squad the usual careful preparation.

Now that Laval has faced batteries of American cameras, he should be able to see his picture anywhere without a shock.—The Escanaba Daily Press.

GREAT GRID TEAMS OF THE PAST

BY BILL RITT

No. 14—The Syracuse Cyclone—1915

Not many teams can fail to win three of their season's games and still earn the title "great". But Syracuse's Orange avalanche in 1915 did just that.

Syracuse played 11 games that year—a full bill of fare for the best elevens in football history—and some of the teams conquered by the Orange on that long march were corkers.

A giant line, a shrewd and fast backfield made Syracuse almost unbeatable that year. Princeton did conquer this crew, but it was one tackle that turned a sure Syracuse victory into galling defeat. A field which was a quagmire and a letdown in a blizzard after two hard months of football were responsible for Syracuse's two tie games.

A towering line broke ground for Syracuse backs in 1915. Flanking Gilmore, the center, were two mammoth guards, Chris Schlachter, an All-American, and White, these two totalling over 500 pounds! Carr and Johnson were the rip-roaring tackles while the wing positions were ably taken case of by Traverse and Braney.

Chick Meehan, the quarterback (now New York university's coach) looked like a small boy crouching behind that wall of beef and brawn. Captain Rose and Red Wilkinson were the halfbacks. At full played Rafter, light, but as tough as rawhide leather.

Orange, 1915 Crop.

TRAVERSE	End
JOHNSON	Tackle
SCHLACHTER	Guard
GILMORE	Center
WHITE	Guard
CARR	Tackle
BRANEY	End
MEEHAN	Quarter
WILKINSON	Half
ROSE	Half
RAFTER	Full

This team got its first workout against Rochester and celebrated the opening of the season with an 82-0 field day.

Bucknell proved a tartar, Syracuse breaking the deadlock at last with a touchdown to win, 6-0. Mount Union was another Roman holiday for the Syracuse cyclone, the score being 73-0.

Brown was overcome 6-0, and then the Orange invaded Ann Arbor where Coach Fielding Yost, Three-Legged Johnny Maulbetsch and a fine Michigan team were set to repel them. Michigan got her touchdown, but Syracuse got two, Rose and Meehan scoring the markers for a 14-7 victory.

Back east again, Syracuse ran into a tartar in Dartmouth. The field was a tragedy of mud. Twice the Syracuse attack sloughed through to within a few feet of the Indians' goal but there the Orange offense slipped, fell and was stopped. The game ended in a scoreless tie.

In the Princeton game, which followed next, Meehan broke loose and was headed for a sure touchdown when the safety man sprang up out of nowhere and nailed him. The Tigers won on a 33-yard dropkick. Score, Princeton 3, Syracuse 0.

The thoroughly maddened Syracuse eleven, its chances for an unbeaten season blasted, looked for a victim on which to take out its grudge. Colgate was elected. Colgate was powerful that year with a lineup sprinkled with stars, but Syracuse, goaded by defeat, was unstoppable.

It was murder. The Orange ran roughshod over the Hamiltonians, crushing them 38-0. It was sweet, sweet balm for Syracuse's Tiger-torn temper.

The Colgate holocaust ended the regular season and the Orange headed west on a barnstorming tour. Jaded and weary, the team first met Montana on this trip and was held to a 6-6 tie in a blizzard.

Oregon State—like Colgate—suffered reprisal for this indignity. Syracuse mashing the Aggies under a 28-0 attack. The Orange wound up its year by lashing Occidental, 35 to 7.

Fishermen Have Not Quit Streams

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11. — Although hunting now holds the limelight in outdoor sports, persistent fishermen are still answering the call of rod and reel in a final invasion of the bass streams of the state. From reports available, empty creels are not the rule.

From Port Royal comes word that fine catches of wall eyed pike are being made at the juncture of Tuscarora creek and the Juniata river. An unusual fact in most of the catches is the landing of these fish not by trolling but in still fishing. Riffle chubs have been particularly effective.

November will mark the close of the fall stock program of brook trout by the fish commission. Bass, perch, catfish, sunfish and wall eyed pike and brook trout are now being taken to streams in most parts of the state by trucks of the commission. In many instances, suckers and minnows, which provide excellent forage fish for the game species, have been distributed.

In Lake Wallenpaupack, according to a recent report, exceptional fishing for pike and bass is now luring the late fall fisherman.

The catching of some of the finest small mouth bass and pickerel of the season during the past month has encouraged many anglers in their final drive on game fish before the curtain rings down on November 30.

REVEALS SECRET OF PRODUCING PLATINUM

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 11—The almost secret processes whereby patinum—that most precious of metals—is produced were revealed in a film shown here during the annual convention of the American National Jeweler's Association.

The movie depicted the dredging of platinum sands from river bottoms in Colombia, South America, the concentration and preparation of crude platinum by washing the sands with water.

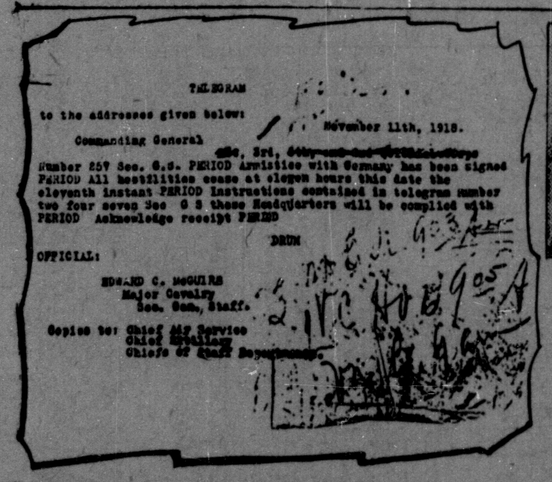

The crude platinum is dissolved in aqua regia, resulting in a solution of platinum and palladium, and a residue of considerable quantities of iridium, ruthenium, and rhodium. The solution is concentrated and the platinum "sponge' removed by adding ammonium chloride.

This sponge is subsequently melted with an oxygen gas torch and results in a high-purity platinum

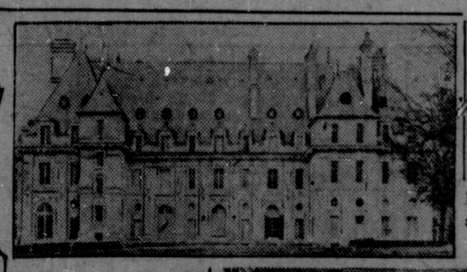

The film also showed the rolling of platinum into sheets, the manufacture of platinum crucibles for use in laboratories and the many processes involved in the creation of a platinum wedding ring.

The chief danger is that people will put off buying until their present possessions acquire merit as antiques.

IN ALGIERS the people who have something to sell cry their wares from a little stall in the market place. And those who buy saunter from stall to stall making their purchases. But in New Castle we arrange things somewhat better. The purchaser can review every offer from his easy-chair, simply by reading the brief, pointed descriptions in the classified columns.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Slight Reaction In Stock Market Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Rallies in the railroad stocks and specialties and a slight reaction in the industrial stocks were the principal features of a dull and quiet session on the bigboard this morning.

In observance of Armistice Day, all trading on the stock exchange as well as the curb market and the commodity markets, was suspended for two minutes at eleven o'clock. Business in the wholesale and retail quarters was also halted for that period.

Speculative interest in the railroad stocks was based on the prospect of an "adjustment" in rail wages growing out of the conference between railroad heads and union labor leaders. Car loadings for the week fell off 29,000 cars, which was not in excess of the seasonal shrinkage. New Haven and New York Central moved up a point each in the lead of the upturn.

Cotton was steady and Silver futures sustained a loss of 60 to 125 points.

Starting from slightly lower price levels, the industrial stocks slowly but steadily recovered their lost ground and average prices in the second hour were fractionally above Tuesday's close. United States Steel moved ahead to 72¾ and General Motors to 29. Dupont and Chrysler Motor were active and firm. Amusement stocks were under pressure on Warner Brothers' annual report showing a loss of nearly $8,000,000 in the year ended August 31, Radio dropped to a new low on the move at 13½.

Call money was unchanged at 2½ per cent.

THANKSGIVING TABLE SHOULD EXPRESS JOY

Thanksgiving is one of those occasions when the joyousness of the moment should be expressed in the table decoration. There should be no stiffness or formality, but an air of warmth, freedom and cordiality. Fine old crystal and silver and porcelain add dignity to the table setting. Fruits and flowers are fitting symbols of the harvest to be used for decorative purposes. A charming arrangement is pictured with a filet tablecloth, silver tray holding grapes, crab apples and Hubbard squash, silver pitchers, candlesticks, cider tumblers and Wedgewood china service plates.

Jaded New Yorkers Go Back To Jig-Saw Puzzle For Fun

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Hundreds of sophisticated New Yorkers, jaded by the fast tempo of night club life, are turning back to one of the simplest amusements of mid-Victorian days—the jig-saw puzzle.

In a little second-story shop on the fringe of the Fifth avenue luxury district, a silver-haired woman, Miss Sarah Matthews, is teaching tired business men how to forget their worries with weirdly-shaped bits of wood.

Her role of listening to the troubles of men and women of all ages is an outgrowth of a unique business she established 15 years ago. She runs New York's only jig-saw puzzle exchange.

The monetary return is not great, but the eyes of the motherly-looking Miss Matthews lighted up today as she told what her puzzles had done.

"They hear of me," she said, "and come in to tell me their troubles. Most of them are men. They are nervous and have business difficulties. They want something to soothe their minds, to make them forget.

"I feel a real sympathy for them and that is why I listen patiently and then say 'jig-saw puzzles for you.' It's the best way in the world to get a complete vacation from what's troubling you.

"I always start them off with simple ones, just a few hundred pieces. Then when they work those out I exchange them for bigger ones."

Some mothers find it an excellent way to keep their children at home, Miss Matthews said.

U. S. Standing By in China

As the situation in China grows more alarming, with an attempt on the life of Henry Pu-Yi, deposed "boy emperor," and serious clashes between Chinese and Japanese in Tientsin, the 15th U. S. Infantry, under Colonel James D. Taylor (upper right), is standing by in the foreign concession, ready at a moment's notice to defend American lives from the rioting Orientals. The American troops are shown drawn up at parade in the concession, where the regiment has been stationed since the Boxer Rebellion. Typical doughboys (lower right) of the 15th Infantry are shown on the march.

Weingartner At All Special Sessions

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 11.—Three times in the present century, the governor of Pennsylvania has called an extrordinary session of the General Assembly, first in 1906, then in 1926, and the present session. Of the present membership of the two branches of the General Assembly there are but four men who have served in all three of the sessions.

The Senate has two of them, Senators John Homsher of Lancaster County, and Senator George T. Weingartner of Lawrence county, and the House two of them, Representative Samuel J. Perry of Philadelphia and Representative John Flynn of Elk county. All four men were in the House in 1906.

The extraordinary session of 1906 was called by Governor Samuel Pennypacker for the purpose of election reform. Out of that special session came the direct primary act and the personal registration act. In 1926 the extraordinary session called by Governor Pinchot accomplished little.

The present session is called for unemployment relief and the indications in the first week of the session were that the governor would get most of what he asked for. There is a disposition to forget political animosities and to confine the efforts of the session towards accomplishing something immediate and definite to remedy the present unemployment situation.

Won by a Whisker

One might think pretty Marjorie Janis was "bearding the lion" in this picture, but, in reality, she's satisfying her curiosity concerning the quality of the prize-winning whiskers which Ed Whalen is sporting. In this day of titles and records, Whalen holds the Northwestern University (Evanston, Ill.) whisker-growing championship. Note his loving cup trophy.

Times will be bad when the dollar-a-year men try to get their old jobs back.
